PART I HISTORICAL

THE STATE

North Carolina, often called the "Tar Heel" state, was the scene of the first attempt to colonize America by English-speaking people. Under a charter granted to Sir Walter Raleigh by Queen Elizabeth, a colony was begun in the 1580's on Roanoke Island. This settlement, however, was unsuccessful and later became known as "The Lost Colony."

The first permanent settlement was made about 1650 by immigrants from Virginia. In 1663 Charles II granted to eight Lords Proprietors a charter for the territory lying "within six and thirty degrees of the northern latitude, and to the west as far as the south seas, and so southerly as far as the river St. Mattias, which bordereth upon the coast of Florida, and within one and thirty degrees of northern latitude, and so west in a direct line as far as the south seas aforesaid; . . ." and the colony was called Carolina. In 1665 another charter was granted to these noblemen. This charter extended the limits of Carolina so that the northern line was 36 degrees and 30 minutes north latitude, and the southern line was 29 degrees north latitude, and both of these lines extended westward to the South Seas.

In 1669 John Locke wrote the Fundamental Constitutions as a model for the government of Carolina. The Lords Proprietors adopted these constitutions and directed the governor to put into operation as much of them as was feasible. In 1670 there were four precincts (changed to counties in 1739); Pasquotank, Perquimans, Chowan, and Currituck. North Carolina now has one hundred counties.

Carolina on December 7, 1710, was divided into North Carolina and South Carolina, and Edward Hyde, on May 12, 1712, became the first governor of North Carolina.

In 1729 seven of the eight Lords Proprietors sold their interest in Carolina to the Crown and North Carolina became a royal colony. George Burrington was the first royal governor. Richard Everard, the last proprietary governor, served until Burrington was appointed.

North Carolina, on April 12, 1776, authorized her delegates in the Continental Congress to vote for independence, and on December 18, 1776, adopted a constitution. Richard Caswell became the first governor under this constitution. On November 21, 1789, the state adopted the United States Constitution, being the twelfth state to enter the Federal Union. North Carolina, in 1788, had rejected the Constitution on the grounds that certain amendments were vital and necessary to a free people.

A Constitutional convention was held in 1835 and among several changes made in the Constitution was the method of electing the governor. After this change the governor was elected by the people for a term of two years instead of being elected by the Legislature for a term of one year. Edward Bishop Dudley was the first governor elected by the people.

North Carolina seceded from the Union May 20, 1861, and was readmitted to the Union in July, 1868.

A new State Constitution was adopted in 1868 and since that date the governor has been elected by the people for four-year terms and he cannot succeed himself. There has not been a new constitution since 1868, but numerous amendments have been added to it.

North Carolina has had a democratic administration since 1900, during which period it has made its greatest progress.

North Carolina has had two permanent capitals—New Bern and Raleigh—and there have been three capitol buildings. Tryon's Palace in New Bern was constructed in the period, 1767-1770, and the main building was destroyed by fire February 27, 1798. The first capitol in Raleigh was completed in 1794 and was destroyed by fire on June 21, 1831. The present capitol was completed in 1840.

The state in 1790 ceded her western lands, which was composed of Washington, Davidson, Hawkins, Greene, Sullivan, Sumner, and Tennessee counties, to the Federal government, and between 1790 and 1796 the territory was known as Tennessee Territory, but in 1796 it became the fifteenth state in the Union.

In 1738, the General Assembly of North Carolina passed an act authorizing the establishment of district courts which served as appelant courts. These courts were authorized to be held in Bath, New Bern, and New Town—now Wilmington. In 1746, the General Assembly repealed the act of 1738 and established district courts to be held at Edenton, Wilmington, and Edgecombe. From 1754 until 1790, other districts were formed as the state expanded in territory and developed needs for these districts. By 1790, there were eight judicial districts divided into two ridings of four districts each. In 1806, the General Assembly passed an act establishing a superior court in each county. The act also set up judicial districts composed of certain contiguous counties, and this practice of expanding the districts has continued from five districts in 1806 until now there are thirty districts.

When North Carolina adopted the Federal Constitution on November 21, 1789, she was authorized to send two senators and five representatives to the Congress of the United States according to the constitutional apportionment. In 1792, when the first federal census had been completed and tabulated, it was found that North Carolina was entitled to ten representatives. It was then that the General Assembly divided the state into ten congressional districts. In 1812, the state had grown and increased in population until it was entitled to thirteen representatives in Congress. Between 1812 and 1865, however, the population decreased so much in proportion to the population of the other states of the Union that North Carolina was by that time entitled only to seven representatives. Since 1865 the population of the state has shown a slow but steady increase, and now there are twelve congressional districts. The state, therefore, has two senators and twelve representatives in the Congress of the United States.

AGRICULTURE

North Carolina is one of the leading agricultural states of the Nation, with the largest farm population of any of the 48 states. Although acreages planted to many of the crops have been trending downward due primarily to smaller acreage allotments, farmers in the state are generally producing more efficiently than in earlier years, with the result that total agricultural income has continued to increase.

In 1955, the most recent year for which complete agricultural income statistics are available, cash receipts from farm operations in North Carolina totaled $942,757,000. This is the second largest total cash income from agriculture in North Carolina, having been exceeded only in 1951 when the total reached about $962 million. In 1955 North Carolina ranked tenth among the states of the Nation in total cash income, while Texas was the only Southern state in which the value of the agricultural output exceeded that of North Carolina.

Cash receipts from crops in 1955 amounted to $712,502,000, leading all states of the Nation except Texas and California. Income from livestock and livestock products amounted to $222,963,000. In addition, North Carolina farmers received government payments of $7,292,000 for conservation practices.

As is generally the case, tobacco counted for more than one-half the total cash income to North Carolina farmers in 1955. Cash receipts of about $534 million for this crop is 56.6 percent of the total agricultural income and about three-fourths of total income from field crops. Poultry and poultry products accounted for $99,024,000 or 10.5 percent of the total, cattle and calves and dairy products $81,182,000 or 8.6 percent of the total, and cotton and cottenseed $58,488,000 or 6.2 percent.

Farm income statistics are not now available for all of 1956, but for the first nine months of the year cash receipts from marketings of agricultural products amounted to $523,017,000—about 4 percent below the $540,779,000 total for a comparable period in 1955. Receipts from sales of livestock and livestock products during the first nine months of 1956 were running about 4 percent above receipts for the comparable period in 1955, while receipts from sales of crops were running 6 percent below. Much of the loss in receipts from sales of crops through September of 1956 results from a slightly smaller poundage of tobacco harvested during 1956 as compared with 1955.

With respect to the 1956 crop season, it is significant to note that unusually good yields per acre were realized from most of the crops harvested in the state. Several all-time records were broken both in per-acre yield and in total production.

The harvested yield of flue-cured tobacco averaged 1,641 pounds, exceeding by 142 pounds the previous record of 1,499 pounds harvested in 1955. Despite a reduction in acreage for harvest of about 11 percent from the preceding year, the 952 million pounds of flue-cured tobacco harvested in 1956 was only 2.8 percent short of the previous record high of 979 million harvested in 1955.

The 1956 corn yield of 41.0 bushels per acre was 7 bushels above the previous record of 34.0 bushels harvested in 1955. Total production of 80.7 million bushels was 9 percent above the previous record crop harvested back in 1950. During each of the intervening years between 1950 and 1956 the State's corn crop had been adversely affected to varying degrees by excessive drought and by hurricane damage.

Per-acre yields of wheat, oats, rye, and barley all established new records during 1956. The average of 25.5 bushels per acre of wheat was 2-½ bushels above the previous record of 23.0 bushels produced in 1951. Oats yielded 40 bushels compared with 36 the previous record, barley 37.0 compared with 34.5, and rye 15.5 compared with 14.5. Total production of each of these crops except rye also established new records.

Acreages of soybeans continued to trend upward, and the 416 thousand acres harvested in 1956 was well above any other year of record as was the 21.5 bushels per acre realized from this crop. Total harvested production of 8,944,000 bushels of soybeans in 1956 exceeded by 70 percent the previous record of 5,253,000 bushels harvested in 1951.

Marketing quotas have held cotton average to a low level in recent years, so that the 440 thousand acres harvested in 1956 was the smallest since 1869.

Although record cotton yields were not realized in 1956, the average of 393 pounds of lint harvested per acre was 72 pounds above the 10-year 1945-54 average.

North Carolina's peanut crop yielded an estimated 1,550 pounds per acre with total production calculated at 306,900,000 pounds. This is almost 50 percent above the 1955 harvest of 204,250,000 pounds. Production of potatoes, sweet potatoes, hay, and cowpeas—all fell just slightly below totals harvested in 1955.

There were 1,600,000 bushels of commercial apples produced in North Carolina during 1956, compared with the 10-year 1945-54 average of 1,239,000 bushels. Production of peaches at 950 thousand bushels compared with an average production of 1,559,000 bushels, while pecan production totaled 2,775,000 pounds compared with 2,254,000 pounds, the average.

Commercial vegetables produced in North Carolina for fresh market during 1956 were valued at $11,503,000, approximately $2 million above the $9,529,000 evaluation placed on 1955 production.

In production of livestock products, several new records were established in 1949. The total of 94,087,000 broilers produced in the State during 1956 exceeds the previous record of 72,936,000 produced in 1955 by 29 percent. Production of milk has continued to trend upward, and the 1,741 million pounds produced during 1956 compares with the previous record of 1,683 million pounds produced in 1955. Egg production, likewise, continued its upward trend, with an estimated total of 1,672 million eggs for 1956, comparing with the previous record of 1,469 million produced in 1955.

The phenomenal increases in pre-acre yields for many crops realized in 1956 reflect improvement in cultural practices which have been under way for several years, breeding of higher yielding varieties of seed, and generally favorable climatic conditions. For a number of years prior to 1956 North Carolina farmers had not realized their full potentials from crop production due to unfavorable climatic conditions. The increase in production of livestock products also represents a continuation of the upward trend which has been under way for several years, and reflects better feeding and breeding practices in connection with the livestock industry.

Conservation and Development

Notable progress continues to be made in the conservation, development, and promotion of the wiser use of North Carolina's natural resources. More profitable use of these vast natural resources are paying dividends, but their greatest potential is yet to be reached.

Constant efforts are being made to bring about a better balance between agriculture and industry. More industrial payrolls of a year-around nature are constantly being sought by local development and area groups working with the Department of Conservation and Development. Industrial expansion is being pushed on a statewide front.

While it has long been noted for its leadership in the production of textile, tobacco, and furniture products, North Carolina is becoming more and more known for the numerous diversified goods its 7,500 manufacturing plants annually produce with their approximately 470,000 employees for the markets of the nation and the world.

In sales volume, textiles, tobacco, furniture, food, electronic products, and chemicals are highest.

Indicating a growing trend in the manufacture of diversified products, the electrical and electronics industry is the newest and fastest growing in North Carolina. Since 1939, when there were only 3 small electronic plants in the State with about 60 workers, the number had grown to more than 40 in 1956 with more than 22,000 workers. Products they produced were valued at $162,000,000.

The approximately 470,000 workers employed in the State's 7,500 manufacturing plants produced goods in 1955 that had a value of $6,482,000,000. Their adaptability, productivity, and willingness to give an honest day's work for a day's pay and the unusually good relations between management and worker have drawn praise on numerous occasions from out-of-State industrialists locating plants in North Carolina.

A total of $1,852,000,000 was paid in salaries and wages to North Carolina's industrial workers in 1955.

The textile industry has about 1,100 plants in the State. In 1955 some 230,000 persons were employed. They produced textile products valued at $2,675,000,000 and their total payroll amounted to $800,000,000.

The State's textile industry, tops in the nation, is gradually becoming more and more diversified within itself. In addition to cotton products, it is now producing a wide variety of synthetic and woolen textiles.

More than 44 percent of America's hosiery is produced in the State.

To illustrate how North Carolina has progressed industrially, the following table of the leading classifications is shown below:

Other examples of North Carolina's growing industrial diversification are seen in the current manufacture of boilers and other metal products, cigarette paper, cellophane, electric equipment, automatic typewriters, aluminum windows and jalousies, electric blankets, smoking pipes, wooden screws, firearms, pottery, particle boards, fish nets, silverware, and a wide variety of lesser known items.

The State's approximately 100 tobacco manufacturing plants produce more tobacco products than all other states combined. These plants in 1955 employed 37,000 workers and paid them $241,000,000 for products they produced and which had a value of $1,623,000,000.

North Carolina's approximately 500 furniture plants employed 36,000 persons in 1955, paid them $127,000,000 for work they did, and the employees turned out products having an overall value of $326,000,000. This State is the nation's largest producer of household furniture.

About 64 percent of the State's total land area of 49,097 square miles is in woodlands. Its total area comprises 52,712 square miles, making it 27th in the U. S.

Products manufactured from the State's forests in 1955 had a combined value of $763,000,000. In 1955 it had approximately 2,700 lumber mills.

Tourists are finding North Carolina more and more attractive. The State's large number of scenic attractions, plus a systematic and effective advertising campaign, bring hundreds of thousands of visitors into its midst. The tourist industry is currently valued at $350,000,000 annually. In addition the State has 10 public parks and numerous historical sites that also attract growing numbers of people.

Commercial fisheries currently provide a livelihood in whole or in part of about 25,000 persons along the State's coast. Value of the State's commercial fisheries to fishermen during the 1954-56 biennium was $13,296,363.

Also growing in value and use is the State's mineral industry. Development in this field is progressing. The State contains almost 93 percent of the total known reserves of lithium in the nation. Systematic studies, including a geologic map now nearing completion and being the first such map made since 1875, are carried on in addition to detailed surveying, mapping and evaluating of mineral deposits.

With increased emphasis being placed on water conservation and use, systematic studies are carried on of surface and underground water supplies. Constant chemical analyses are made to inform and assist industrialists in proper location of plant sites and to assure healthy supplies for domestic use.

HEALTH

The services of public health now are available to those living in every one of North Carolina's 100 counties. This goal was not easily accomplished, but the progress of extending all the services of public health to the local level has been steady, even if slow at times.

During the past few years, public health in North Carolina has been made more democratic; that is, its administration has been given into the hands of local officials. Of course, the general pattern is the same throughout the State, but local health departments now administer their affairs to meet their peculiar needs, with no interference from a highly centralized state department in Raleigh.

The year 1949 was destined to become a turning point in the public health program in North Carolina. The Legislature of that year did more for Public Health than any of its predecessors. There was a spirit of close cooperation between public health officials, the Governor and members of the General Assembly. As an outcome of this, approximately $800,000 in new money was voted for each fiscal year of the new biennium for local health work, which had only been receiving $350,000 a year. This meant an increase to $1,150,000 in State funds.

Effective February 1, 1950, the State Health Department became streamlined, the number of divisions being reduced from 14 to 6, exclusive of central administration. While it is necessary for a central public health department to be maintained with offices in Raleigh, at the same time it is realized that, to be thoroughly effective, the services of public health must be available, through local administrations, to the inhabitants of every home in North Carolina. In other words, public health is as close to every citizen of this State as his or her nearest local health officer.

While there were various laws and statutes relating to public health measures passed prior to that time, the State Board of Health was created by the General Assembly of 1877, and has been functioning, with changes from time to time, ever since. Guilford has the distinction of being the first county in the United States to inaugurate full time county health work. That was in 1911. The following year, Robeson became the first purely rural county in the United States to take this step.

STATE HIGHWAY SYSTEMS

On January 1, 1956, the State had under its direct jurisdiction 69,592 miles of highways, roads and streets, a distance equivalent to two and one half times around the world at the equator. This vast mileage is almost 11 per cent of the gross length of all mileage under State control in the entire Nation. The three basic systems in this North Carolina network are as follows:

The Primary State Highway System in rural areas is made up of the U. S. and N. C. numbered routes, and has a length of 10,968 miles, substantially all hard surfaced. The largest of the three systems is the Rural Secondary System of 56,053 miles, of which 22,074 miles are paved—the remainder being surfaced with stone, soil or other all weather material. There is more rural paving in North Carolina than in any other state except Texas, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. Some 96% of the State's rural people live on, or within one mile of a paved highway or road.

In addition to these two rural systems, the State has jurisdiction over 2,571 miles of streets which form a part of the State Highway and Road Systems in Municipalities. Of this Municipal System, 2,236 miles are paved.

Combining the three systems, the State operates a network of 35,154 miles of paved and 34,438 miles of unpaved highways, roads and streets. The State has direct jurisdiction over more mileage than has any other road governing body in the nation. In terms of size and population, no other state exceeds North Carolina in the extent of road services provided for its people. There are no toll roads in North Carolina.

Major emphasis is now being placed on modernizing many obsolete sections of the Primary System, and building the Interstate Expressway System. Some 150 miles of the latter have already been built, and this program is being more than doubled in rate of construction.

Since 1921, the entire Road and Highway Program of the State has been financed exclusively from the gasoline tax, motor vehicle license fees and Federal Aid, without recourse to property taxation or aid from the General State Fund. During the past fiscal year, the State Highway Fund expended $134,604,747 for highway, road, and street construction, maintenance, betterments and improvements, including the operation of the Motor Vehicle Department, Highway Patrol, Highway Safety Division, several other state agencies, and the retirement of Secondary Road Bonds.

RURAL ELECTRIC AND TELEPHONE SERVICE

Rural areas of North Carolina received little benefits from rural electrification prior to 1935, which is often spoken of as the starting point. At that time, only 1.884 miles of rural lines serving 11.558 farms were recorded by the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority, which was created in that year to secure electric service for the rural areas. Today the Authority reports in operation 80,284.78 miles of rural lines serving 569,495 consumers. In addition to this, there were 217.32 miles under construction or authorized for construction to serve 962 consumers. Electrification has contributed considerably to the great progress in agricultural development over the past few years. The electrified farm provides for comfort and health in farm living through lighting, refrigeration, ranges, washing machines, freezers, plumbing and all the other many useful household electric appliances. Electricity is essential to modern farm production. Farmers have motors for universal use-yard and building lighting, running water, poultry incubators, brooders for chickens, pigs and stock, milking, grain and hay driers, irrigation, and many other useful pieces of farm producing equipment. Electricity affords fire protection and the operation of the many labor saving devices for the rural home and farm activities. Electric service is absolutely essential, for example, for a farm to qualify as a grade A dairy.

The 1945 United States Census indicated that only 14,539 North Carolina farms had telephone service. The desire and need in the rural areas for communication, so essential to the well-being of the people was so widespread that the 1945 General Assembly enacted the Rural Telephone Act, charging the North Carolina Rural Electrification Authority with the responsibility of assisting rural residences in securing telephone service. Funds and personnel were first assigned to the program in 1949, which might well be termed the active beginning. Through the activities of the State Authority and other State Agencies and as a result of cooperation on the part of the telephone industry and the organization of a number of member owned Telephone Membership Corporations over three times as many farms now have telephone service as in 1945. In addition, approximately 132,000 rural non-farm residences also have service.

Public Schools

North Carolina provides a basic, state-supported nine months public school term. Sixty-four of the 174 units supplement this lecally. Public school enrollment in 1955-56 was 1,023,747. There were 33,428 teachers and 1,897 principals and supervisors and 174 superintendents. More than two-thirds of all general fund taxes collected by the State are used for education. The State operates a bus fleet of 7,498 vehicles, transporting 487,711 children to the public schools. Attendance is compulsory for children between ages 7 and 16. There are 3,161 public school buildings, and the total value of public school property is $519,606,658.

Colleges and Universities

The University of North Carolina, chartered in 1789, was the first State university to open its doors. The Greater University of North Carolina is comprised of the University at Chapel Hill, State College at Raleigh, and Woman's College at Greensboro. In all there are 63 institutions of higher learning in the State. Twelve are state-supported. Forty-six are private or church-related. Five are public institutions with some state support. There are 34 senior, 23 junior, 1 theological seminary, and 5 unclassified institutions. Duke University in Durham is one of the most heavily endowed institutions of higher learning in the world. Total university and college enrollment in 1956-57 was 53,727.

THE STATE CAPITOL

The original State Capitol of North Carolina was destroyed by fire on June 21, 1831.

At the session of November, 1832, the Assembly resolved to rebuild on the old site, and $50,000 was appropriated for the purpose. Commissioners were appointed to have the work done. The rubbish was cleared away, the excavations made and the foundations were laid. On July 4, 1833, the cornerstone was set in place.

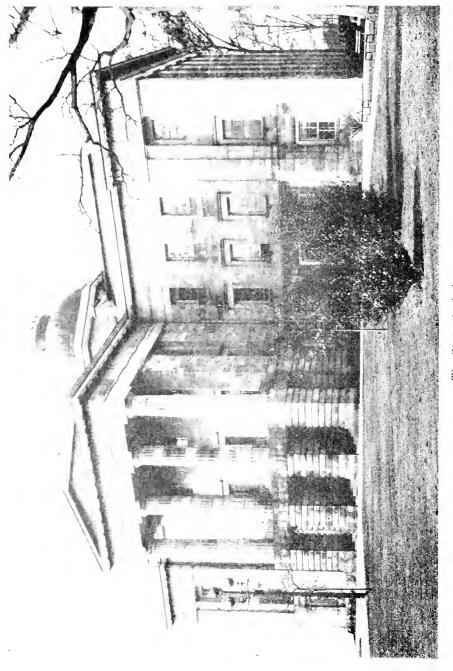

After the foundations were laid the work progressed more slowly, and it was so expensive that the appropriation was exhausted. The Legislature at its next session appropriated $75,000 more. To do the stone and finer work many skilled artisans had been brought from Scotland and other countries. The Building Commissioners contracted with David Paton to come to Raleigh and superintend the work. Mr. Paton was an architect, who had come from Scotland the year before. He was the builder, the architect, and designer.

The Legislature was compelled to make appropriations for the work from time to time. The following is a table of the several appropriations made:

Session of	1832-33$ 50,0	00.000
Session of	1833-34 75,0	00.00
Session of	1834-35 75,0	00.000
Session of	1835 75,0	00.00
Session of	1836-37 120,0	90.000
Session of	1838-39 105,8	300.00
Session of	1840-41 31,5	374.46

The stone with which the building was erected was the property of the State. Had the State been compelled to purchase this material the cost of the Capitol would have been considerably increased.

In the summer of 1840 the work was finished. At last, after more than seven years, the sum of $531,674.46 was expended. As large as that sum was for the time, when the State was so poor and when the entire taxes for all State purposes reached less than $100,000, yet the people were satisfied. The building had been erected with rigorous economy, and it was an object of great pride to the people. Indeed, never was money better expended than in the erection of this noble Capitol.

Description of the Capitol, Written by David Paton, the Architect

"The State Capitol is 160 feet in length from north to south by 140 feet from east to west. The whole height is $97\frac{1}{2}$ feet in the center. The apex of pediment is 64 feet in height. The stylobate is 18 feet in height. The columns of the east and west porticoes are 5 feet $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches in diameter. An entablature, including blocking course, is continued around the building, 12 feet high.

"The columns and entablature are Grecian Doric, and copied from the Temple of Minerva, commonly called the Parthenon, which was erected in Athens about 500 years before Christ. An octagon tower surrounds the rotunda, which is ornamented with Grecian cornices, etc., and its dome is decorated at top with a similar ornament to that of the Choragic Monument of Lysicrates, commonly called the Lantorn of Demosthenes.

"The interior of the Capitol is divided into three stories: First, the lower story, consisting of ten rooms, eight of which are appropriated as offices to the Governor, Secretary, Treasurer, and Comptroller, each having two rooms of the same size—the one containing an area of 649 square feet, the other 528 square feet—the two committee rooms, each containing 200 square feet and four closets; also the rotunda, corridors, vestibules, and piazzas, contain an area of 4,370 square feet. The vestibules are decorated with columns and antæ, similar to those of the Ionic Temple on the Ilissus, near the Acropolis of Athens. The remainder is groined with stone and brick, springing from columns and pilasters of the Roman Doric.

"The second story consists of Senatorial and Representatives' chambers, the former containing an area of 2,545 and the latter 2,849 square feet. Four apartments enter from Senate Chamber, two of which contain each an area of 169 square feet, and the other two contain each an area of 154 square feet; also, two rooms enter from Representatives' chamber, each containing an area of 170 square feet; of two committee rooms, each containing an area of 231 square feet; of four presses and the passages, stairs, lobbies, and colonnades, containing an area of 3,204 square feet.

"The lobbies and Hall of Representatives have their columns and antie of the Octagon Tower of Andronicus Cyrrhestes and the plan of the hall is of the formation of the Greek theatre and the columns and antie in the Senatorial chamber and rotunda are of the Temple of Erectheus, Minerva Polias, and Pandrosus, in the Acropolis of Athens, near the above named Parthenon.

"Third, or attic story, consists of rooms appropriated to the Supreme Court and Library, each containing an area of 693 square feet. Galleries of both houses have an area of 1,300 square feet; also two apartments entering from Senate gallery, each 169 square feet, of four presses and the lobbies' stairs, 988 square feet. These lobbies as well as rotunda, are lit with cupolas, and it is proposed to finish the court and library in the florid Gothic style."

THE STATE FLAG

An Act to Establish a State Flag

The General Assembly of North Carolina do enact:

Section 1. That the flag of North Carolina shall consist of a blue union, containing in the center thereof a white star with the letter N in gilt on the left and the letter C in gilt on the right of said star, the circle containing the same to be one-third the width of the union.

Sec. 2. That the fly of the flag shall consist of two equally proportioned bars; the upper bar to be red, the lower bar to be white; that the length of the bars horizontally shall be equal to the perpendicular length of the union, and the total length of the flag shall be one-third more than its width.

Sec. 3. That above the star in the center of the union there shall be a gilt scroll in semicircular form, containing in black letters this inscription: "May 20th, 1775," and that below the star there shall be a similar scroll containing in black letters the inscription: "April 12th, 1776."

In the General Assembly read three times and ratified this 9th day of March, A.D., 1885.

No change has been made in the flag since the passage of this act. By an act of 1907 it is provided:

"That the board of trustees or managers of the several State institutions and public buildings shall provide a North Carolina flag, of such dimensions and materials as they may deem best, and the same shall be displayed from a staff upon the top of each and every such building at all times except during inclement weather, and upon the death of any State officer or any prominent citizen the Flag shall be put at half-mast until the burial of such person shall have taken place.

"That the Board of County Commissioners of the several counties in this State shall likewise authorize the procuring of a North Carolina flag, to be displayed either on a staff upon the top, or draped behind the Judge's stand, in each and every courthouse in the State, and that the State flag shall be displayed at each and every term of court held, and on such other public occasions as the Commissioners may deem proper." (Rev., s. 5321; 1885 c. 291; 1907, c. 838.)

- 1. Resolved, That whosever directly or indirectly abetted or in any way form or manner countenanced the unchartered and dangerous invasion of our rights as claimed by Great Britain is an enemy to this country, to America, and to the inherent and inalienable rights of man.
- 2. - 3. Resolved, That we do hereby declare ourselves a free and independent people, are, and of right ought to be a sovereign and self-governing association under the control of no power other than that of our God and the General Government of the Congress

- 5. Resolved, That it is further decreed that all, each and every Military Officer in this County is hereby reinstated in his former command and authority, he acting comformably to these regulations. And that every member present of this delegation shall henceforth be a civil officer, viz., a justice of the peace, in the character of a "committee man" to issue process, hear and determine all matters of controversy according to said adopted laws and to preserve peace, union and harmony in said county, and to use every exertion to spread the love of Country and fire of freedom throughout America, until a more general and organized government be established in this Province.

THE GREAT SEAL

The Constitution of North Carolina, Article III, section 16, requires that

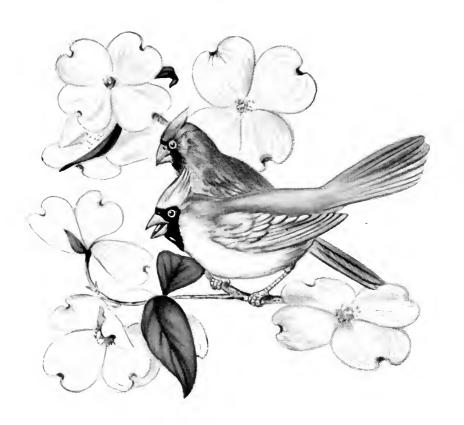

"There shall be a seal of the State which shall be kept by the Governor, and used by him as occasion may require, and shall be called 'The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina.' All grants and Commissions shall be issued in the name and by the authority of the State of North Carolina, sealed with 'The Great Seal of the State,' signed by the Governor and countersigned by the Secretary of State.'

The use of a Great Seal for the attestation of important documents began with the institution of government in North Carolina. There have been at various times nine different seals in use in the colony and State.

The present Great Seal of the State of North Carolina is described as follows:

"The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina is two and onequarter inches in diameter, and its design is a representation of the figures of Liberty and Plenty, looking toward each other, but not more than half fronting each other, and otherwise disposed, as follows: Liberty, the first figure, standing, her pole with cap on it in her left hand and a scroll with the word 'Constitution' inscribed thereon in her right hand. Plenty, the second figure, sitting down, her right arm half extended toward Liberty, three heads of wheat in her right hand, and in her left the small end of her horn, the mouth of which is resting at her feet, and the contents of horn rolling out. In the exergon is inserted the words May 20, 1775, above the coat of arms. Around the circumference is the legend 'The Great Seal of the State of North Carolina' and the motto 'Esse Quam Videri'." (Rev., s. 5339; Code ss. 3328, 3329; 1868-9, c. 270, s. 35; 1883, c. 392; 1893, c. 145.)

THE STATE BIRD

By popular choice the Cardinal was selected for adoption as our State Bird as of March 4, 1943. (S. L. 1943 c. 595; G. S. 145-2.)

This bird is sometimes called the Winter Redbird because it is most conspicuous in winter and is the only "redbird" present at that season. It is an all year round resident and one of the commonest birds in our gardens and thickets. It is about the size of a Catbird with a longer tail, red all over, except that the throat and region around the bill is black; the head is conspicuously crested and the large stout bill is red; the female is much duller—the red being mostly confined to the crest, wings and tail. There are no seasonal changes in the plumage.

The Cardinal is a fine singer, and what is unusual among birds the female is said to sing as well as the male, which latter sex usually has a monopoly of that art in the feathered throngs.

The nest is rather an untidy affair built of weed stems, grass and similar materials in a low shrub, small tree or bunch of briars, usually not over four feet above the ground. The usual number of eggs to a set is three in this State, usually four further North. Possibly the Cardinal raises an extra brood down here to make up the difference, or possibly he can keep up his normal population more easily here through not having to face inclement winters of the colder North. A conspicuous bird faces more hazards.

The Cardinal is by nature a seed eater, but he does not dislike small fruits and insects.

THE HALIFAX RESOLUTION

Adopted by the Provincial Congress of North Carolina in Session at Halifax, April 12, 1776.

It appears to your committee that pursuant to the plan concerted by the British Ministry for subjugating America, the King and Parliament of Great Britain have usurped a power over the persons and properties of the people unlimited and uncontrolled; and disregarding their humble petitions for peace, liberty and safety, have made divers legislative acts, denouncing war, famine, and every species of calamity, against the Continent in general. The British fleets and armies have been, and still are, daily employed in destroying the people, and committing the most horrid devastations on the country. The Governors in different Colonies have declared protection to slaves who should imbrue their hands in the blood of their masters. That ships belonging to America are declared prizes of war and many of them have been violently seized and confiscated. In consequence of all of which multitudes of the people have been destroyed, or from easy circumstances reduced to the most lamentable distress.

AND WHEREAS, The moderation hitherto manifested by the United Colonies and their sincere desire to be reconciled to the mother country on constitutional principles, have procured no mitigation of the aforesaid wrongs and usurpations, and no hopes remain of obtaining redress by those means alone which have been hitherto tried, your committee are of opinion that the House should enter into the following resolve, to wit:

Resolved, That the delegates for this Colony in the Continental Congress be empowered to concur with the delegates of the other Colonies in declaring Independency, and forming foreign alliances, reserving to this Colony the sole and exclusive right of forming a Constitution and laws for this Colony, and of appointing delegates from time to time (under the direction of a general representation thereof), to meet the delegates of the other Colonies for such purposes as shall be hereafter pointed out.

NAME OF STATE AND NICKNAMES

In 1629 King Charles the First of England "erected into a province," all the land from Albemarle Sound on the north to the St. John's River on the south, which he directed should be called Carolina. The word Carolina is from the word Carolus, the Latin form of Charles.

When Carolina was divided in 1710, the southern part was called South Carolina and the northern or older settlement was called North Carolina, or the "Old North State." Historians had recorded the fact that the principal products of this State were "tar, pitch and turpentine." It was during one of the fiercest battles of the War Between the States, so the story goes, that the column supporting the North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle the North Carolinians, who had successfully fought it out alone, were greeted from the passing derelict regiment with the question: "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?" Quick as a flash came the answer: "No; not a bit; old Jeff's bought it all up." "Is that so; what is he going to do with it?" was asked. "He is going to put it on you'uns heels to make you stick better in the next fight." Creecy relates that General Lee, hearing of the incident, said: "God bless the Tar Heel boys," and from that they took the name.—Adapted from Grandfather Tales of North Carolina by R. B. Creecy and Histories of North Carolina Regiments, Vol. III, by Walter Clark.

The State Motto

The General Assembly of 1893 (chapter 145) adopted the words "Esse Quam Videri" as the State's motto and directed that these words with the date "20 May, 1775," should be placed with our Coat of Arms upon the Great Seal of the State.

The words "Esse Quam Videri" mean "to be rather than to seem." Nearly every State has adopted a motto, generally in Latin. The reason for their mottoes being in Latin is that the Latin tongue is far more condensed and terse than the English. The three words, "Esse Quam Videri," require at least six English words to express the same idea.

Curiosity has been aroused to learn the origin of our State motto. It is found in Cicero in his essay on Friendship (Cicero de Amicitia, Chap. 26.)

It is a little singular that until the act of 1893 the sovereign State of North Carolina had no motto since its declaration of independence. It was one of the very few states which did not have a motto and the only one of the original thirteen without one. (Rev., s. 5320; 1893, c. 145; G. S. 144-2.)

The State Colors

The General Assembly of 1945 declared Red and Blue of shades appearing in the North Carolina State Flag and the American Flag as the official State Colors. (Session Laws, 1945, c. 878; G. S. 144-6.)

The State Flower

The General Assembly of 1941 designated the dogwood as the State flower. (Public Laws, 1941, c. 289; G. S. 145-1.)

The State's Toast

Officially adopted as the toast of North Carolina by the General Assembly of 1957. (Session Laws, 1957, c. 777.)

Here's to the land of the long leaf pine, The summer land where the sun doth shine, Where the weak grow strong and the strong grow great, Here's to "Down Home," the Old North State!

Here's to the land of the cotton bloom white, Where the scuppernong perfumes the breeze at night, Where the soft southern moss and jessamine mate, 'Neath the murmuring pines of the Old North State!

Here's to the land where the galax grows, Where the rhododendron's rosette glows, Where soars Mount Mitchell's summit great, In the "Land of the Sky," in the Old North State!

Here's to the land where maidens are fair, Where friends are true and cold hearts rare, The near land, the dear land whatever fate, The blest land, the best land, the Old North State! (Composed in 1904 by Leonora Martin and Mary Burke Kerr.)

THE OLD NORTH STATE

(Traditional air as sung in 1926)

CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA

PREAMBLE

We, the people of the State of North Carolina, grateful to Almighty God, the Sovereign Ruler of Nations, for the preservation of the American Union and the existence of our civil, political and religious liberties, and acknowledging our dependence upon Him for the continuance of those blessings to us and our posterity, do, for the more certain security thereof, and for the better government of this State, ordain and establish this Constitution:

ARTICLE I

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

That the great, general and essential principals of liberty and free government may be recognized and established, and that the relations of this State to the Union and Government of the United States, and those of the people of this State to the rest of the American people may be defined and affirmed, we do declare:

Section 1. The equality and rights of persons. That we hold it to be self-evident that all persons are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, the enjoyment of the fruits of their own labor, and the pursuit of happiness.

Sec. 2. Political power and government. That all political power is vested in, and derived from, the people; all government of right originates from the people, is founded upon their will only, and is instituted solely for the good of the whole.

Sec. 3. Internal government of the State. That the people of this State have the inherent, sole and exclusive right of regulating the internal government and police thereof, and of altering and abolishing their Constitution and form of government whenever it may be necessary to their safety and happiness; but every such right should be exercised in pursuance of law, and consistently with the Constitution of the United States.

- Sec. 4. That there is no right to secede. That this State shall ever remain a member of the American Union; that the people thereof are a part of the American Nation; that there is no right on the part of the State to secede, and that all attempts, from whatever source or upon whatever pretext, to dissolve said Union or to sever said Nation, ought to be resisted with the whole power of the State.
- Sec. 5. Of allegiance to the United States Government. That every citizen of this State owes paramount allegiance to the Constitution and Government of the United States, and that no law or ordinance of the State in contravention or subversion thereof can have any binding force.
- Sec. 6. Public debt; bonds issued under ordinance of Convention of 1868, '68-'69, '69-'70, declared invalid; exception. The State shall never assume or pay, or authorize the collection of any debt or obligation, express or implied, incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; nor shall the General Assembly assume or pay, or authorize the collection of any tax to pay, either directly or indirectly, expressed or implied, any debt or bond incurred, or issued, by authority of the Convention of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, nor any debt or bond incurred or issued by the Legislature of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, either at its special session of the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight, or at its regular sessions of the years one thousand eight hundred and sixty-eight and one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine, and one thousand eight hundred and sixty-nine and one thousand eight hundred and seventy, except the bonds issued to fund the interest on the old debt of the State, unless the proposing to pay the same shall have first been submitted to the people and by them ratified by the vote of a majority of all the qualified voters of the State, at a regular election held for that purpose.
- Sec. 7. Exclusive emoluments, et cetera. No person or set of persons are entitled to exclusive or separate emoluments or privileges from the community but in consideration of public services.
- Sec. 8. The legislative, executive and judicial powers distinct. The legislative, executive, and supreme judicial powers of the government ought to be forever separate and distinct from each other.

- Sec. 9. Of the power of suspending laws. All power of suspending laws, or the execution of laws, by any authority, without the consent of the representatives of the people, is injurious to their rights, and ought not to be exercised.
 - Sec. 10. Elections free. All elections ought to be free.
- Sec. 11. In criminal prosecutions. In all criminal prosecutions, every person charged with crime has the right to be informed of the accusation and to confront the accusers and witnesses with other testimony, and to have counsel for defense, and not be compelled to give self-incriminating evidence, or to pay costs, jail fees, or necessary witness fees of the defense, unless found guilty.

Sec. 12. Answers to criminal charges. No person shall be put to answer any criminal charge except as hereinafter allowed, but by indictment, presentment, or impeachment. But any persons, when represented by counsel, may, under such regulations as the Legislature shall prescribe, waive indictment in all except capital cases.

- Sec. 13. Right of jury. No person shall be convicted of any crime but by the unanimous verdict of a jury of good and lawful persons in open court. The Legislature may, however, provide other means of trial, for petty misdemeanors, with the right of appeal.
- Sec. 14. Excessive bail. Excessive bail should not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel or unusual punishments inflicted.
- Sec. 15. General warrants. General warrants, whereby any officer or messenger may be commanded to search suspected places, without evidence of the act committed, or to seize any person or persons not named, whose offense is not particularly described and supported by evidence, are dangerous to liberty and ought not to be granted.
- Sec. 16. Imprisonment for debt. There shall be no imprisonment for debt in this State, except in cases of fraud.
- Sec. 17. No persons taken, etc., but by law of land. No person ought to be taken, imprisoned or disseized of his freehold, liberties, or privileges, or outlawed or exiled, or in any manner deprived of his life, liberty or property, but by the law of the land.
- Sec. 18. Persons restrained of liberty. Every person restrained of his liberty is entitled to a remedy to inquire into the lawfulness thereof, and to remove the same, if unlawful; and such remedy ought not to be denied or delayed.

- Sec. 19. Controversics at law respecting property. In all controversies at law respecting property, the ancient mode of trial by jury is one of the best securities of the rights of the people, and ought to remain sacred and inviolable. No person shall be excluded from jury service on account of sex.
- Sec. 20. Freedom of the press. The freedom of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty, and therefore ought never to be restrained, but every individual shall be held responsible for the abuse of the same.
- Sec. 21. Habeas corpus. The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended.
- Sec. 22. Property qualification. As political rights and privileges are not dependent upon, or modified by, property, therefore no property qualification ought to affect the right to vote or hold office.
- Sec. 23. Representation and taxation. The people of the State ought not to be taxed, or made subject to the payment of any impost or duty without the consent of themselves, or their representatives in General Assembly, freely given.
- Sec. 24. Militia and the right to bear arms. A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed; and, as standing armies in time of peace are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be kept up, and the military should be kept under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power. Nothing herein contained shall justify the practice of carrying concealed weapons, or prevent the Legislature from enacting penal statutes against said practice.
- Sec. 25. Right of the people to assemble together. The people have a right to assemble together to consult for their common good, to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the Legislature for redress of grievances. But secret political societies are dangerous to the liberties of a free people, and should not be tolerated.
- Sec. 26. Religious liberty. All persons have a natural and inalienable right to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of their own consciences, and no human authority should.

- in any case whatever, control or interfere with the rights of conscience.
- Sec. 27. Education. The people have a right to the privilege of education, and it is the duty of the State to guard and maintain that right.
- Sec. 28. Elections should be frequent. For redress of grievances, and for amending and strengthening the laws, elections should be often held.
- Sec. 29. Recurrence to fundamental principles. A frequent recurrence to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty.

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

I believe in the United States of America, as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

THE AMERICAN FLAG. ITS ORIGIN

In 1775, the Philadelphia Troop of Light Horse carried a standard with thirteen alternate blue and silver stripes in the upper left-hand corner. At Cambridge on January 2, 1776, Washington without authorization of the Continental Congress, raised a flag consisting of thirteen alternate white and red stripes with the crosses of St. George and St. Andrew in a blue field in the upper left-hand corner. It was called the "Union Flag," "Grand Union Flag," and the "Continental Flag," and was employed until displaced by the Stars and Stripes adopted by the Continental Congress.

The beautiful tradition that Betsy Ross, as early as June 1776, made a Stars and Stripes flag from a pencil sketch supplied by Washington but changed the points of the stars from six to five, has become a classic. Historians doubt its accuracy. Half a dozen localities claim to have been the place where the Stars and Stripes was first used. Within New York State such contention has been for Fort Ann on July 8, Fort Stanwix on August 3, Bennington on August 13, and Saratoga on September 19, 1777. The flag with thirteen stripes and thirteen stars, authorized on June 14, 1777, continued to be used as the national emblem until Congress passed the following act, which President Washington signed:

"That from and after May 1, 1795, the flag of the United States be fifteen stripes, alternate red and white; and that the union be fifteen stars, white in a blue field." This action was necessitated by the admission of the States of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union.

The flag of 1795 had the stars arranged in three rows of five each instead of in a circle, and served for 23 years.

With the admission of more new states, however, it became apparent that the 1795 flag would have to be further modified; hence in 1818 a law was passed by Congress providing:

"That from and after the fourth day of July next, the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the union have twenty stars, white in a blue field.

"That on the admission of every new state into the Union, one star be added to the union of the flag; and that such addition shall take effect on the Fourth of July next succeeding such admission."

Since 1818 additional stars have been added until today there are 48 on the flag. No law has been passed to designate how the stars shall be arranged. At one time they formed a design of a larger star. Now by common practice they form six rows of eight stars each.

Betsy Ross, it is now said, lived at 233 Arch Street, Philadelphia, and not at 239. She made flags, but says Theodore D. Gottlieb, she never made the first Stars and Stripes. He adds: "The Department of State, the War and Navy departments, the Historical Sites Commission of Philadelphia and other official bodies repudiate the legend. The book and pamphlet material available is overwhelmingly against the legend.

"The story arose for the first time on March 14, 1870, when William J. Canby read a paper before the Pennsylvania Historical Society in which he states that in 1836, when his grandmother, Betsy Ross, was 84 years old and he was 11, she told him the story. He apparently thought little of it because nothing was done until 1857, when at the suggestion of his Aunt Clarissa, oldest daughter of Betsy, he wrote out the notes as he remembered the conversation.

"Nothing further was done until 1870 when he wrote his paper. The Historical Society of Pennsylvania thought so little of the paper it neither catalogued nor kept a copy of it. Even George Canby, younger brother of William, disputed several points in the paper.

"The legend grew to strength from 1888 to 1893 when prometers secured an option on the so-called Flag House.

"Modern historical researchers are giving much thought to Francis Hopkinson of New Jersey as the possible designer and the Fillmore or Bennington flag as the first flag."

The Proper Display of the American Flag

- Sec. 2. (a) It is the universal custom to display the flag only from sunrise to sunset on buildings and on stationary flagstaffs in the open. However, the flag may be displayed at night upon special occasions when it is desired to produce a patriotic effect.
 - (b. The flag should be hoisted briskly and lowered ceremoniously.
- (c) The flag should not be displayed on days when the weather is inclement.
- (d) The flag should be displayed on all days when the weather permits, especially on New Year's Day, January 1; Inauguration Day, January 20; Lincoln's Birthday, February 12; Washington's Birthday, February 22; Army Day, April 6; Easter Sunday (variable); Mother's Day, second Sunday in May; Memorial Day (half staff until noon), May 30; Flag Day, June 14; Independence Day, July 4; Labor Day, first Monday in September; Constitution Day, September 17; Columbus Day, October 12; Navy Day, October 27; Armistice Day, November 11; Thanksgiving Day, fourth Thursday in November; Christmas Day, December 25; such other days as may be proclaimed by the President of the United States; the birthdays of States (dates of admission); and on State holidays.
- (e) The flag should be displayed daily, weather permitting, on or near the main administration building of every public institution.
- (f) The flag should be displayed in or near every polling place on election days.
- (g) The flag should be displayed during school days in or near every schoolhouse.
- Sec. 3. That the flag, when carried in a procession with another flag or flags, should be either on the marching right; that is, the flag's own right, or, if there is a line of other flags, in front of the center of that line.
- (a) The flag should not be displayed on a float in a parade except from a staff, or as provided in subsection (i).

- (b) The flag should not be draped over the hood, top, sides, or back of a vehicle or of a railroad train or a boat. When the flag is displayed on a motorcar, the staff shall be fixed firmly to the chassis or clamped to the radiator cap.
- (c) No other flag or pennant should be placed above or, if on the same level, to the right of the flag of the United States of America, except during church services conducted by naval chaplains at sea, when the church pennant may be flown above the flag during church services for the personnel of the Navy.
- (d) The flag of the United States of America, when it is displayed with another flag against a wall from crossed staffs, should be on the right, the flag's own right, and its staff should be in front of the staff of the other flag.
- (e) The flag of the United States of America should be at the center and at the highest point of the group when a number of flags of States or localities or pennants of societies are grouped and displayed from staffs.
- (f) When flags of States, cities, or localities, or pennants of societies are flown on the same halyard with the flag of the United States, the latter should always be at the peak. When the flags are flown from adjacent staffs, the flag of the United States should be hoisted first and lowered last. No such flag or pennant may be placed above the flag of the United States or to the right of the flag of the United States.
- (g) When flags of two or more nations are displayed, they are to be flown from separate staffs of the same height. The flags should be of approximately equal size. International usage forbids the display of the flag of one nation above that of another nation in time of peace.
- (h) When the flag of the United States is displayed from a staff projecting horizontally or at an angle from the window sill, balcony, or front of a building, the union of the flag should be placed at the peak of the staff unless the flag is at half staff. When the flag is suspended over a sidewalk from a rope extending from a house to a pole at the edge of the sidewalk, the flag should be heisted out, union first, from the building.
- (i) When the flag is displayed otherwise than by being flown from a staff, it should be displayed flat, whether indoors or out. When displayed either horizontally or vertically against a wall, the union should be uppermost and to the flag's own right; that is, to the observer's left. When displayed in a window, the flag should be displayed in the same way; that is, with the union or blue field to the left of the observer in the street.

- (j) When the flag is displayed over the middle of the street, it should be suspended vertically with the union to the north in an east and west street or to the east in the north and south street.
- (k) When used on a speaker's platform, the flag, if displayed flat, should be displayed above and behind the speaker. When displayed from a staff in a church or public auditorium, if it is displayed in the chancel of a church, or on the speaker's platform in a public auditorium, the flag should occupy the position of honor and be placed at the clergyman's or speaker's right as he faces the congregation or audience. Any other flag so displayed in the chancel or on the platform should be placed at the clergyman's or speaker's left as he faces the congregation or audience. But when the flag is displayed from a staff in a church or public auditorium elsewhere than in the chancel or on the platform it shall be placed in the position of honor at the right of the congregation or audience as they face the chancel or platform. Any other flag so displayed should be placed on the left of the congregation or audience as they face the chancel or platform.
- (1) The flag should form a distinctive feature of the ceremony of unveiling a statue or monument, but it should never be used as the covering for the statue or monument.
- (m) The flag, when flown at half-staff, should be first hoisted to the peak for an instant and then lowered to the half-staff position. The flag should be again raised to the peak before it is lowered for the day. By "half-staff" is meant hauling the flag to one-half the distance between the top and bottom of the staff. Crepe streamers may be affixed to spear heads or flagstaffs in a parade only by order of the President of the United States.
- (n) When the flag is used to cover a casket, it should be so placed that the union is at the head and over the left shoulder. The flag should not be lowered into the grave nor allowed to touch the ground.
- Sec. 4. That no disrespect should be shown to the flag of the United States of America; the flag should not be dipped to any person or thing. Regimental colors, State flags, and organizations or institutional flags are to be dipped as a mark of honor.

- (a) The flag should never be displayed with the union down save as a signal of dire distress.
- (b) The flag should never touch anything beneath it, such as the ground, the floor, water, or merchandise.
- (c) The flag should never be carried flat or horizontally, but always aloft and free.
- (d) The flag should never be used as drapery of any sort whatsoever, never festooned, drawn back, nor up, in folds, but always allowed to fall free. Bunting of blue, white, and red, always arranged with the blue above, the white in the middle, and the red below, should be used for covering a speaker's desk, draping the front of a platform, and for decoration in general.
- (e) The flag should never be fastened, displayed, used, or stored in such a manner as will permit it to be easily torn, soiled, or damaged in any way.
 - (f) The flag should never be used as a covering for a ceiling.
- (g) The flag should never have placed upon it, nor on part of it, nor attached to it any mark, insignia, letter, word, figure, design, picture, or drawing of any nature.
- (h) The flag should never be used as a receptacle for receiving, holding, carrying, or delivering anything.
- (i) The flag should never be used for advertising purposes in any manner whatsoever. It should not be embroidered on such articles as cushions or handkerchiefs and the like, printed or otherwise impressed on paper napkins or boxes or anything that is designed for temporary use and discard; or used as any portion of a cestume or athletic uniform. Advertising signs should not be fastened to a staff or halyard from which the flag is flown.
- (j) The flag, when it is in such condition that it is no longer a fitting emblem for display, should be destroyed in a dignified way, preferably by burning.
- Sec. 5. That during the ceremony of hoisting or lowering the flag or when the flag is passing in a parade or in a review, all persons present should face the flag, stand at attention, and salute. Those present in uniform should render the right-hand salute. When not in uniform, men should remove the headdress with the right hand helding it at the left shoulder, the hand being over the heart. Men without hats merely stand at attention. Women should salute by placing the right hand over the heart. The salute to the flag in the moving column should be rendered at the moment the flag passes.

Sec. 6. That when the national anthem is played and the flag is not displayed, all present should stand and face toward the music. Those in uniform should salute at the first note of the anthem, retaining this position until the last note. All others stand at attention, men removing the headdress. When the flag is displayed, the salute to the flag should be given.

Sec. 7. That the pledge of allegiance to the flag, "I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all," be rendered by standing with the right hand over the heart: extending the right hand, palm upward, toward the flag at the words "to the flag" and holding this position until the end, when the hand drops to the side. However, civilians will always show full respect to the flag when the pledge is given by merely standing at attention, men removing the headdress. Persons in uniform shall render the military salute.

Sec. 8. Any rule or custom pertaining to the display of the flag of the United States of America, set forth herein, may be altered, modified, or repealed, or additional rules with respect thereto may be prescribed, by the Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, whenever he deems it to be appropriate or desirable; and any such alteration or additional rule shall be set forth in a proclamation.

The Pledge to the Flag

(Taught in many of the schools and repeated by pupils daily)

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America, And to the Republic for which it stands, One Nation under God, indivisible, With liberty and justice for all."

The Pledge to the Flag, according to a report of the Historical Committee of the United States Flag Association (May 18, 1939), was written by Francis Bellamy (August 1892), a member of the editorial staff of The Youth's Companion, in Boston, Massachusetts, It was first repeated at the exercises in connection with the celebration of Columbus Day (October 12, 1892, Old Style). The idea of this national celebration on Columbus Day was largely that of James B. Upham, one of the junior proprietors of The Youth's Companion.

Francis Hopkinson, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, was the designer of the Stars and Stripes—not Betsy Ross of Philadelphia, who made flags. He also designed the first Great Seal of the United States, and a number of coins and several items of paper currency in the early days of the Republic.

Hopkinson, born in Philadelphia (September 21, 1737), and a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, was the first native American composer of a secular song, "My Days Have Been So Wondrous Free." He was a lawyer and later a judge in New Jersey and then in Pennsylvania. He died in Philadelphia (May 9, 1791). His portrait, painted by himself, hangs in the rooms of the Pennsylvania Historical Society, Philadelphia. He played the organ and the harpsichord.

THE CAPITOL AT WASHINGTON

The Capitol building in Washington, D. C., is situated on a plateau 88 feet above the level of the Potomac River and covers an area of 153,112 square feet, or approximately three and one-half acres. Its length, from north to south, is 751 feet, four inches; its width, including approaches, is 350 feet; and its location is described as being in latitude 38°53′20.4" N. and longitude 77°00′35.7" W. from Greenwich. Its height above the base line on the east front to the top of the Statue of Freedom is 287 feet, five and one-half inches. The dome is built of iron, and the aggregate weight of material used in its construction is 8,909,200 pounds.

The Statue of Freedom surmounting the dome is of bronze and weighs 14,985 pounds. It was modeled by Thomas Crawford, father of Francis Marion Crawford, the novelist, in Rome, and the plaster model shipped to this country. It was cast in bronze at the shops of Clark Mills, on the Bladensburg Road, near Washington. The cost of the casting and the expenses in connection were $20,796.82, and the sculptor was paid $3,000 for the plaster model. It was erected and placed in its present position December 2, 1863.

The grounds have had an area of 58.8 acres, at one time a part of Cern Abby Manor, and at an early date were occupied by a subtribe of the Algonquin Indians known as the Powhatans, whose council house was then located at the foot of the hill. By subsequent purchase of ground at the north of the Capitol and at the west of the new House Office building the area of the grounds has been increased to 139½ acres.

The Rotunda is 97 feet 6 inches in diameter, and its height from the floor to the top of the canopy is 180 feet, 3 inches.

The Senate Chamber is 113 feet, 3 inches, in length by 80 feet, 3 inches, in width and 36 feet in height. The galleries will accommodate 682 persons.

The Representatives' Hall is 139 feet in length by 93 feet in width and 36 feet in height.

The room, until 1935 the meeting place of the Supreme Court, was, until 1859, occupied as the Senate Chamber. Previous to that time the court occupied the room immediately beneath, now used as a law library.

The Capitol has a floor area of 14 acres, and 430 rooms are devoted to office, committee, and storage purposes. There are 14,518 square feet of skylights, 679 windows, and 550 doorways.

The dome receives light through 108 windows, and from the architect's office to the dome there are 365 steps, one for each day of the year.

The southeast cornerstone of the original building was laid September 18, 1793, by President Washington, with Masonic ceremonies. It is constructed of sandstone from quarries on Aquia Creek, Va. The original designs were prepared by Dr. William Thornton, and the work was done under the direction of Stephen H. Hallet, James Hoban, George Hadfield, and B. H. Latrobe, architects.

The north wing was finished in 1800 and the south wing in 1811. A wooden passageway connected them. On August 24, 1814, the interior of both wings was destroyed by fire, set by the British. The damage to the building was immediately repaired.

In 1818 the central portion of the building was commenced under the architectural superintendence of Charles Bullfinch. The original building was finally completed in 1827. Its cost, including the grading of the grounds, alterations, and repairs, up to 1827, was $2,433,844.13.

The cornerstone of the extensions was laid on the Fourth of July, 1851, by President Fillmore, Daniel Webster officiating as orator. This work was prosecuted under the architectural direction of Thomas U. Walter until 1865, when he resigned, and it was completed under the supervision of Edward Clark. The material used in the walls is white marble from the quarries of Lee, Massachusetts, and that in the columns from the quarries of Cokeysville, Maryland. The House extension was first occupied for legislative purposes December 16, 1857, and the Senate January 4, 1859.

The House office building was begun in 1905 and occupied on January 10, 1908; later a story on top was added. The Senate office building was started in 1906 and occupied on March 5, 1909. The House building cost, with site, $4,860,155; the Senate structure, $5,019,251.

Among the paintings in the Capitol are:

In Rotunda: Signing of the Declaration of Independence, Surrender of General Burgoyne, Surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown, Va., George Washington Resigning His Commission as Commander in Chief of the Army, all by John Trumbull.

Baptism of Pocahontas, by John G. Chapman; Landing of Columbus, by John Vanderlyn; Discovery of the Mississippi River by DeSoto, by William H. Powell; Embarkation of the Pilgrims, by Robert W. Weir.

In House Wing: Westward the Course of Empire Takes Its Way, by Emanuel Leutze; First Reading of the Emancipation Proclamation, by Francis Bicknell Carpenter.

In Senate Wing: Battle of Lake Erie, by William H. Powell; Battle of Chapultepec, by James Walker.

THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

(Unanimously Adopted in Congress, July 4, 1776, at Philadelphia)

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the Laws of Nature and of Nature's God entitles them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights; that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. That, to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; That, whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundations on such principles, and organizing its powers in such forms, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their Safety and Happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that Governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes: and, accordingly, all experience hath shewn, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same Object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute Despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such Government, and to provide new Guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former Systems of Government. The history of the present King of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute Tyranny over these States. To prove this, let Facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to Laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his Governors to pass Laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his Assent should be obtained; and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other Laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of Representation in the Legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable and distant from the depository of their public Records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved Representative Houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the Legislative powers, incapable of Annihilation, have returned to the People at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States for that purpose obstructing the Laws for Naturalization of Foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new Appropriations of Lands.

He has obstructed the Administration of Justice, by refusing his Assent to laws for establishing Judiciary Powers.

He has made Judges dependent on his Will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of New Offices, and sent hither swarms of Officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, Standing Armies without the Consent of our Legislature.

He has affected to render the Military independent of, and superior to, the Civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws; giving his Assent to their Acts of pretended Legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock Trial, from punishment for any Murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our Trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing Taxes on us without our Consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of Trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond Seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free System of English Laws in a neighboring Province, establishing therein an Arbitrary government, and enlarging its Boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our Charters, abolishing our most valuable Laws, and altering fundamentally, the Forms of our Governments:

For suspending our own Legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated Government here, by declaring us out of his Protection and waging War against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our Coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is at this time transporting large Armies of foreign Mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of Cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the Head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-Citizens, taken captive on the high Seas, to bear Arms against their Country, to become the executioners of their friends and Brethren, or to fall themselves by their Hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian Savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these Oppressions We have Petitioned for Redress in the most humble terms; Our repeated Petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A Prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a Tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attention to our British brethren, We have warned them from time to time of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which inevitably interrupt our connections with correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our Separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind—Enemies in War, in Peace Friends.

WE, THEREFORE, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress Assembled; appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the Name and by authority of the good People of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, That these United Colonies are, and of Right ought to be free and independent States; that they are Absolved from all Allegiance to the British Crown, and that all political connection between them and the State of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as Free and Independent States, they have full power to levy War, conclude Peace, contract Alliances, establish Commerce, and to do all other Acts and Things which Independent States may of right do. And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes, and our sacred Honor.

PART II CENSUS

POPULATION OF THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA

Seventeenth Census of the United States: 1950

Based on preliminary population figures, North Carolina's urban places continued to grow faster than rural areas between 1940 and 1950, according to the seventeenth decennial census, issued by Director Roy V. Peel, of the Bureau of the Census, Department of Commerce.

According to the final figures, the total urban population increased from 974,175 in 1940 to 1,368,101 in 1950, or 40.4 per cent, while the rural population increased from 2,597,448 in 1940 to 2,693,828 in 1950 or an increase of 3.3 per cent. The final count of the Seventeenth Census for the entire state on April 1, 1950 was 4,061,929 compared to 3,571,623 for 1940, showing an increase of 13.7 per cent. Urban residents accounted for 33.7 per cent of the State's population in 1950 as compared with 27.3 per cent for 1940. Rural areas in 1950 accounted for 66.3 per cent of the total population. The Census Bureau considers as urban areas the incorporated places of 2500 or more, or unincorporated places of 2500 or more located outside an urbanized area. The remaining territory is classified as rural.

There were 30 incorporated places of 10,000 or more in 1950 according to preliminary counts. Four of these (Albemarle, Henderson, Monroe, and Sanford) reached this size since 1940. All of these cities increased in population between 1940 and 1950.

The final figures, by counties, of the 1950 census showed that there was a gain in population in 78 of the 100 counties. Onslow county, with an increase of 133.3 per cent had the most extensive growth, followed by Cumberland with 61.8 per cent, Craven with 55.5 per cent, Orange with 49.2 per cent and New Hanover with 32.1 per cent.

The first census of North Carolina was taken in 1790, returning a population of 393,751. The population has shown an increase at every census since that time. The population passed 1,000,000 between 1860 and 1870, 2,000,000 between 1900 and 1910, 3,000,000 between 1920 and 1930, and 4,000,000 between 1940 and 1950. The present population represents a density of 77.1 inhabitants per square mile. North Carolina's total area in square miles is 52,712. Land area is 49,142 square miles; water area is 3,570 square miles.

Table 1 presents the figure for counties and for incorporated places of 10,000 or more, and Table 2 for incorporated places of less than 10,000.

STATE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM FOR 1956

We, the Democrats of North Carolina, in convention assembled, reaffirm our faith in the great Party of Jefferson and Jackson: we endorse its dynamic and far-sighted record in State and Nation, and offer the following statement of policies and principles as our platform for 1956:

National Affairs

During the twenty years next preceding January 20, 1953, the people of the United States wisely entrusted the management of national affairs to the Democratic Party, which proved its fidelity to this time honored principle: "Equal opportunities for all men and special privileges for none." On assuming responsibility for the conduct of the Federal Government at the beginning of this period, the Democratic Party found agriculture, business and labor in a state of total collapse resulting from the previous twelve years of Republican mal-administration. Democratic administrations rescued agriculture, business, and labor from their tragic plight and preserved our free enterprise system by a series of progressive measures and programs, which were designed and developed by Democrats for the welfare of all the people of America, and which were denounced and opposed by Republicans as "creeping socialism." Since their return to power, the Republican Party has not dared to repudiate any of these Democratic measures or programs. However, it has deprived the people of the full benefit of these measures and programs by entrusting their administration to administrators not sympathetic with their purposes.

At the general election in 1952, the Republican Party recaptured the Presidency and through it the power to administer national affairs by issuing to the American people campaign pledges which it has failed to redeem. The incompatability between pre-election Republican promises and post-election Republican performances is clearly illustrated by Republican words and Republican deeds in the fields of agriculture and the rights of the States. Although Republican campaigners promised to support basic crops at ninety percent of parity "without any ands or buts", Republican administrators and legislators have deliberately depressed the prices of virtually all agricultural commodities far below that standard to carry out Secretary of Agriculture Benson's theory that farming must be made unprofitable in order to prevent the accumulation of surpluses. When it was seeking the votes of the country in general and the South in particular, the Republican Party posed as the champion of the rights of the States. Since the election, however, the Republican national administration has adopted administrative practices and recommended the enactment of legislation calculated to reduce the States to meaningless zeros on the nation's map. When all is said and done, the Republican Party has kept only one of its campaign promises—the promise implied in the slogan "It's time for a change." It has changed our government from a government of the people, by the people, for the people, to a government of the privileged few, by the privileged few, for the privileged few.

The Democrats of North Carolina in convention assembled call upon the lovers of democracy throughout the nation to aid them in restoring the government of the United States to the people of the United States.

Congress

When a Republican administration is in power in Washington, it is more important than ever that our Democratic congressional delegation be alert and sensitive to the public interest. They are like watchmen in the night, and it is good to hear them ery out in warning when the welfare of the people is threatened. We commend them for having the courage of their convictions. They have not hesitated to oppose the National Republican Administration when they thought it was in the wrong, and likewise have not hesitated when they thought it was in the national interest to rise above partisan politics and join in a non-partisan front in defiance of the enemies of America. This they would have done more often had the Eisenhower Administration generally been willing to carry on a non-partisan program in foreign affairs. The Democratic Party of North Carolina takes pride in the accomplishments of its United States Senators and Democratic members of the House of Representatives. We feel that we have outstanding congressmen as individuals and that they work together well as a strong team for North Carolina. We commend them for the diligence and the devotion with which they have served their constituents, the State of North Carolina, and the Nation as a whole.

The General Assembly

The General Assembly of 1955 was confronted with an unusual number of difficult problems and it is to the credit of our legislators that they met issues of serious and even grave importance with courage and wisdom. The General Assembly reached reasonable solutions of the problems confronting it, laying aside factional and sectional interests and generally legislating with a broad view of the welfare of the State as a whole. We commend heartily the caution and the moderation that characterized their action and take particular pride in the farsighted manner in which grave developments were anticipated. We feel that our General Assembly is an outstanding body. As usual, the great bulk of the members are of the Democratic faith, and have continued to carry on the great work for which our Party is noted.

The Hodges Administration

North Carolina has been fortunate in the quality of its executive leadership under Democratic Governors for the past half century. This tradition is now being carried forward capably by Governor Luther H. Hodges.

Following the untimely death of Governor William B. Umstead, Governor Hodges came into office with less than two months in which to prepare for the convening of the 1955 General Assembly. With characteristic vigor and resourcefulness, Governor Hodges faced squarely the many formidable problems looming ahead. These involved revenues, public education and the segregation decisions of the United States Supreme Court, governmental reorganization, Superior Court re-districting, industrial development, agriculture, highways and highway safety—to mention a few. To a marked degree, his program met with favor in the 1955 General Assembly, and between the Executive and the General Assembly, there was a substantial meeting of minds resulting in a record of achievement and cooperation of which the Democratic Party is justly proud.

We are indebted to Governor Hodges for his initiative in rallying forces necessary for immediate relief to the people of eastern North Carolina during and following a series of destructive hurricanes. With determination and persistence, he worked through every available source for badly-needed rehabilitation and assistance, and has provided far-sighted planning in an effort to prevent recurrent damage from possible future disasters. In this, as in other matters affecting the welfare of the State, Governor Hodges has had the sustained support of our Democratic members of Congress.

While grappling with the problems of today, the Governor has also stimulated and encouraged the people of North Carolina to look ahead to the future with courage and confidence. He has repeatedly emphasized the vital need for increasing our per capita income, and for diversifying our economy so that we may achieve a prosperous and effective balance between agriculture and industry. We commend him especially for his wise leadership in the many and complex problems resulting from the segregation decisions of the United States Supreme Court. He has not hesitated, where necessary, to speak out frankly and candidly on controversial issues affecting the welfare of the State. He has acted promptly, without fear or favor.

In times of emergency, in times of great stress, it is good to have as our Chief Executive a man in whom the people of North Carolina have great confidence, whose ability, honesty and sincerity are well known, a man who has a keen understanding of the needs of our people. The Democratic Party hereby endorses the record of Governor Hodges, which we believe reflects great credit upon the Democratic Party of North Carolina.

Education

Believing that public education and democracy are inseparable allies in promoting and maintaining the common good, we reaffirm our faith in our children and assume with pride our obligation to provide for them the best education possible.

Caught in the surging tide of increasing school enrollments necessitating additional buildings and enlarged appropriations, the people of this State have enthusiastically responded to the leadership of the Democratic Party in guaranteeing that the more-than-amillion children in our public schools shall have those opportunities envisioned by Aycock, Joyner, and others at the beginning of this century. In scope, the growth of our school system is almost phenomenal. During the last decade there has been an increase of 200,000 pupils in school enrollment, and, looking toward the future, the largest number of births in our history was recorded in 1955. Likewise, in opportunity, our record is enviable. We have, for example, within the last 15 years, made the transition from an eleven-grade system to a twelve-grade system; lengthened the term to nine months; extended the age of compulsory school attendance; inaugurated a retirement system for teachers and other State employees; initiated a program in driver training and safety education; begun a program of special education for handicapped and exceptional children; provided a Statewide school health program; and, through a program of school district reorganization and consolidation, invested millions of dollars in improved facilities. Truly, our record is one of consistency in educational progress.

This Party, however, does not propose to be complacent about the status of its educational achievements; but rather, within the tax resources available, it pledges its continuing support to a program of public education that shall be commensurate with the ideals and aspirations of our people and shall be rewarding both to the individual and to the State which nutures him.

All over North Carolina there is a general re-birth of public interest favoring better schools and better opportunities for our children and youth. This new spirit inspires us to look ahead with confidence and to face the challenges of the future with faith, with vision, and with all the intelligence and genius at our command.

The Democratic Party recognizes that further advancement in educational opportunity for the increasing number of youth in this State will require additional qualified teachers, adequately compensated; additional buildings, adequately maintained and supplied with instructional materials, additional transportation facilities, for extended services; additional administrative and supervisory personnel at both the State and local levels, for leadership and guidance in an expanding school system; and, additional funds with which to expand our curriculum to meet the contemporary demands of our State, particularly in the areas of industrial and technical education. These are obligations which we assume with pride, realizing that our investments in public education are, in reality, investments in human resources, in which lie the hope of our people.

The Democratic Party is particularly proud of the manner in which our State has met and continues to meet the crisis in public education created by the segregation decisions of the United States Supreme Court. In the calm and orderly manner traditional to North Carolina, the Governor and the Advisory Committee on Education have, with firm resolve, attempted to analyze the problems we face. The Democratic Party stands squarely behind the Governor and the Advisory Committee in their efforts to find a solution to this problem.

Public Health

When North Carolina was redeemed from Republican rule in 1900 by the brilliant Aycock and his associates, the annual appropriation for all Public Health work was a mere $2,000 a year. When the first local health department in the United States was organized in Guilford County, in 1911, the State appropriation had grown to $22,000, but Public Health still was centralized under the State Board and its affairs were administered from Raleigh.

During the fiscal year of 1954-1955, for which figures are complete, there was spent for all Public Health services in North Carolina the sum of $8,007,917 of which nearly $4,000,000 was voted by the counties. Under Republican leadership in Washington, Federal aid for Public Health has dwindled rapidly, which made it necessary for our own people, under Democratic rule, to make up the deficiency. This they have done in a noble way.

That progress which we have made under Democratic leadership has found expression in the administration of Public Health, as well as in our expanding economy and social development. Not only has Public Health kept pace with our physical development, in the improvement of its administration and in expanded appropriations, but it has been decentralized and placed, since 1949, in the hands of our one hundred counties, each of which now enjoys all the privileges of Public Health services, locally administered.

With the expansion and decentralization of Public Health, there has been developed, under Democratic leadership, an ever-increasing interest on the part of the people which has found fruition in increased local financial support.

Our Public Health practices, confined, for the most part, strictly to preventive medicine, have resulted in the eradication of small-pox, typhoid fever, pellagra, malaria and many other preventable and controllable human ailments which formerly plagued our people and took such a heavy toll of life each year.

Among our greatest victories in the field of preventive medicine, through the administration of Public Health, have been those in connection with the prolongation of life among our infants and children, and in the reduction of maternal deaths. We now are giving more thought to the study of what we call degenerative diseases, more prevalent among our aging population, to mental health, to farm and home accidents and other enemies of life and happiness, with a view to bringing these within the range of preventive medicine, where this is possible.

We must take no backward step in Public Health, if we are to continue our march of progress along other lines. No state or nation can enjoy the abundant life half sick and half well, and nothing contributes more than Public Health to our agricultural and industrial and tourist trade expansion and prosperity—our over-all standard of living for all North Carolinians.

Mental Institutions

During the past ten years all institutions for the mentally ill in North Carolina have made great strides forward. Approximately $44,000,000 have been appropriated for Permanent Improvements, including the $22,000,000 raised by the Bond issue of 1953, and all of this sum has already been spent for buildings or allocated for building in progress. Additional funds have also been allocated each biennium for expansion of professional staffs.

There has been a great increase in the number of persons seeking admission but waiting lists have been eliminated for all acute cases. This is a big step forward, made possible by the increase of professional staff and the change in emphasis from custody to treatment which results in patients leaving the hospitals much earlier. Modern drugs and psychiatric treatment have helped greatly in the progress made.

Two new training schools for the mentally retarded are under construction and should be completed next year, and this will go far to relieve the greater part of the waiting list that has been in existence for many years. Greater emphasis is paid to the training now than was possible in the past.

The progress made during the ten year period has been phenomenal. All old firetrap buildings have been eliminated and replaced by buildings of good design and construction. Treatment programs are of good standard and North Carolina can take pride in this service given to its citizens who find it necessary to use it.

Agriculture

We reaffirm our belief that a vigorous, prosperous agriculture is essential to the welfare and prosperity of our people in North Carolina and throughout the nation. We have faith in the fundamental principles of farm policy developed by Democratic administrations down through the years. And we strongly decry the Republican conspiracy to discredit these principles and to nullify them piecemeal and by indirection. We especially deplore the repeated efforts of Eisenhower, Benson and Nixon to blame the decline in farm prices and income on high, rigid price supports, and to refuse to accept the responsibility for their poor leadership.

We advocate for continued progress in North Carolina agriculture:

- (1) Continued emphasis on agricultural research with a view to further improvement of production efficiency and further diversification.
- (2) Greater effort in the development of new uses and expanding markets for farm commodities, the encouragement of increased agricultural exports, and the promotion of better marketing practices and facilities at home.
- (3) Expansion of agricultural education, especially in bringing technical training to a larger number of dirt farmers.
- (4) Continuation of the Soil Conservation Service as a program to maintain and build up our precious resources of soil and water.
- (5) Continuation of the Rural Electrification Administration and the Rural Telephone Program under vigorous, progressive policies which resulted in their success under Democratic administrations, and brought greater living comforts to our farm people.
- (6) Support of adequate agricultural credit facilities making it possible for farmers to buy their own farms, and to finance their production at reasonable rates of interest.
- (7) Expansion of crop insurance, as need and experience dictate.

Notwithstanding the industrial progress of our State, North Carolina is still fundamentally dependent upon agriculture. Two-thirds of our people live outside incorporated cities and towns, and half of these are employed directly on farms. In fact, North Carolina has the largest rural population in the Nation, only Texas having a larger number of farms. Small unit farming, then, is characteristic of North Carolina, and a substantial number of these are operated entirely by one farm family. To such small unit farmers, the farm is indeed not only a livelihood but a way of life, which has provided a stabilizing influence in our society. The time has come when we must take steps to conserve our farm families as a great national resource. To that end, we pledge our support to policies and programs which will help farm families to maintain a standard of living similar to that enjoyed by others.

We are proud of the fine record of our State Department of Agriculture in administering regulatory programs to protect the interests of both farmers and the general public, in promoting better markets and processing facilities for farm products, and in providing other services for our farmer. We also take pride in the outstanding work in agricultural research and education conducted by the College of Agriculture and its related agencies at North Carolina State College. We commend the fine spirit of cooperation that exists between these institutions and agencies, and we pledge to them our continued support, recognizing that through them we can best serve the everchanging needs of our large farm population.

Roads

Since the initial State-wide Highway Program of 1921, North Carolina has been known as the "Good Roads State". Its mileage has been expanded many times over, as the number and usage of motor vehicles by its people has steadily grown. At this time, the North Carolina State Highway and Public Works Commission has direct jurisdiction over a greater mileage of Public Roads than has the Highway agency of any other state. Due, mainly, to the Secondary Road Bond issue authorized by the voters in 1949, North Carolina has one of the best and most extensive systems of hard surfaced Secondary roads in any state in the nation.

As of January 1, 1956, the State of North Carolina has on its systems 32,918 miles of paved highways and roads, and 34,103 miles of unpaved roads which are kept in substantially all-weather condition. In addition, there are 2,571 miles of streets on the systems, thus making a total of 69,592 miles being maintained by the State Highway and Public Works Commission.

Both the age of this great mileage and the evermounting traffic volumes and burdens to which it is subjected has brought about a task of great magnitude, requiring costs and personnel greater than in any other State agency. Our Commission has done much with the funds available to provide our people with adequate, comfortable and safe highways and roads. The number of North Carolina motor vehicles served has doubled within the past eight years, and is still growing. Funds for needed modernization of our Primary highways are not adequate from State sources, but there is reason to believe that materially increased Federal aid will soon become available, which should prove to be most helpful to us.

We commend the Governor, the General Assembly, the Commission and all those who have had a part in providing our roads and highway services for the people of the State. We pledge our continued support for a fully adequate and modern highway system for the entire State, and a program which, within available State and Federal funds, will bring the Primary system to a standard commensurate with the needs of the present day heavy traffic which our highways serve, including the use of access control on expressway designs. The Democratic Party will continue to back its Governors and Legislators as they seek to provide adequate facilities for motor vehicle transportation for all the people in every section of the State.

Prisons

The State Prison System, which is now administered as a division of the State Highway and Public Works Commission, is growing in size and in cost, constituting not only a growing economic problem, but posing challenging questions in the field of human rehabilitation.

Approximately 11,000 prisoners are now in the System and the population is steadily increasing, operating costs running around $9,000,000 a year. With a growing prison population and mounting costs, business efficiency and effective rehabilitation programs have become essential to proper prison administration. Great progress is being made in meeting these essentials. Prison farms are now operated under graduates of agricultural colleges. Improvements instituted have not only made it possible for the Prison System to approach self-sufficiency respecting its food requirements but have also increased the training value of farm work for prison inmates. Inmates are also being afforded opportunities to learn other trades which will enable them to be self-supporting upon their return to society. Prison rules and regulations have been reviewed, amended, and changed to conform with modern methods of prison administration. The reforms have improved the morale of prison inmates and prison personnel.

The Democratic Party will continue to press for progress in the administration of the prisons, and commends the Governor and Legislature for the studies now underway which will place greater emphasis upon rehabilitation, in the hope that more and more offenders may be returned to the community as useful members of society.

Parole and Probation

On July 1, 1955, as a result of a constitutional amendment, authority to grant, revoke and terminate paroles was transferred from the Governor's office to the Board of Paroles to relieve the Governor of this burden. The Board, which consists of three members, has worked out a plan of procedure which, through rules and regulations, embodies the best experience in this highly specialized field. The State can be justly proud of the fact that in North Carolina all prisoners with terms of twelve months or more are automatically and carefully considered at regular intervals.

Both parole and probation are today important agencies in the rehabilitation of prisoners. We should make every reasonable effort to improve and strengthen both of these agencies to the end that they may continue to render great service and protection to the people of North Carolina.

Highway Safety

Under the administrations of Governors Umstead and Hodges, a determined and sustained effort has been made to make our highways safer for our people. With a steady increase from year to year in the number of registered motor vehicles and drivers and a corresponding increase in motor vehicle mileage, the need for continued reduction of the accident and fatality rate is imperative. Definite progress in that direction is being made. The Governor, the Commissioner of Motor Vehicles and the Highway Patrol and various citizen groups have given splendid leadership to the safety program. However, if this vital work of saving human lives is to succeed as it should, the hands of these public officials and others working for safety must be upheld by the courts and by our citizens. We pledge our best efforts and encouragement to the public officials of our State engaged in this vital work and call upon all the people of North Carolina to throw their moral support behind the safety program.

State and Local Employees

The Democratic Party owes a debt of gratitude to the loyal and efficient employees of State and local governments who have through the years made possible our record of achievement. They have been honest and efficient and have rendered courteous service. The Democratic Party takes pride in their devotion to duty and recognizes them as the custodians of our good name and as the effective means through which the principles of our Party are made manifest and real to the people of North Carolina.

The welfare of teachers and State employees has always been a matter of great concern. For instance, in 1941 a program of retirement was adopted which has been improved by every subsequent General Assembly. The system is operated on an excellent actuarial basis and is recognized as one of the soundest and most liberal systems in the entire country.

The most recent change made was the coordination of the retirement system with Social Security. This progressive program has only recently been put into operation and has already gained national recognition.

The State Retirement Board has given assistance to local governments in planning retirement programs for their employees. This has been done on an optional basis. More than 562 cities, counties, towns and instrumentalities have adopted either a retirement system or Social Security for their employees which is administered on a state-wide basis by the Board of Trustees of the Retirement System.

Public Welfare

In recent years we have come to a better understanding of the fact that even in good times economic advances do not benefit all groups, nor do they affect in the same degree all individuals and groups within the State's population.

The Democratic Party has never been willing to look merely at the balance sheet of the State as a whole and conclude that no one within its borders needs constructive assistance to meet situations beyond individual control. There has been an alert concern for the changing and continuing needs of those individuals who have been handicapped by illness, by the death of the wage-earner in the family, by the helplessness and lack of protection of childhood, by the increasing disabilities of old age, by discordant domestic and personal situations, and by other misfortunes beyond their control.

This concern for the welfare of our citizens is implemented helpfully by the strengthening from year to year of the programs of the State Board of Public Welfare which bring both financial assistance and other services to those individuals and families with special problems. The strengthening of the public welfare programs has not only helped individuals in times of need and brought into a better measure of balance the maladjustments occasioned by changing conditions, economic and personal, but has also resulted in a total benefit to the State through the added self-respect and purchasing power given these citizens.

The Democratic Party views the needs of our citizens who have met misfortune within the perspective of our State's total economic and social setting. Thus much has been done to make increasingly more effective the public welfare programs which provide protection, preventive and rehabilitative services. This foresight represents a sound investment in human welfare and in the conservation of our human resources. In addition, some citizens, once unable to make a contribution to the economy of the State, are thus enabled to assume some share of this individual responsibility.

In administering programs dealing with the welfare of our citizens who have met misfortune and other programs affecting citizens in all walks of life, the State Board of Public Welfare has pursued a conservative policy in keeping with the intent of the legal bases of the several programs. In percentage of administrative cost and in policies for determining eligibility for financial aid, North Carolina has an enviable record of economical administration and careful factual determination.

Relationships throughout the State-supervised and county-administered public welfare program have continued harmonious and effective. This is but one illustration of the democratic process in action—a process basic to the tenets of the Democratic Party.

Within the limits of a balanced budget, the Democratic Party seeks to keep abreast of the needs of the citizens of our State. To children, to older citizens, to all in need, we pledge the financial aid required so that our citizens may share equally the opportunities inherent in a democratic society; for we believe that no community fully discharges its obligation if it neglects the underprivileged, the handicapped, those unable to help themselves.

Labor

More than a million of our people earn their living as wage and salary workers. With their labor and skills they add greatly to the income of the State and discharge responsibilities which are vital to the life and future of North Carolina. In addition to their industrial jobs, many of these workers occupy responsible positions of leadership in their communities where their influence is felt for civic betterment.

The Democratic Party, traditionally the friend of labor, reviews with pride the tremendous progress made by working men and women in recent years and pledges its continued support to a program of humane labor laws, safe working conditions, and fair compensation for industrial workers who contribute so much to the prosperity of our State. No true progress can come to North Carolina unless it embraces the welfare and advancement of those who by their work and their skill contribute substantially to our economy.

The Democratic Party is dedicated to the cause of industrial peace and harmony. During the past two years, we take pride in the fact that relatively few strikes have occurred. For this splendid record, both management and labor are to be commended.

We also commend the Department of Labor for the fine work that it has done on behalf of the working men and women of North Carolina, standing ever ready to devote its facilities to their aid and assistance.

Conservation and Development

Under the leadership of the Democratic Party, North Carolina has experienced astonishing growth. However, despite our progress, we stand at an economic crossroad. Economic studies confirm the theory that North Carolina will remain relatively poor until the State processes for sale in finished form products of its farms, mines and commercial fishing waters, rather than sending them to market in their raw state.

North Carolina must encourage new industry both from inside and outside the State, and expand existing industry. This is necessary in order that we may raise our per capita income and produce revenue which will support the public services including our schools, roads and other undertakings demanded by our people.

An increasing number of new industries have been brought into the State through the efforts of development corporations in many communities, working in cooperation with the Division of Commerce and Industry of the Department of Conservation and Development. Progress in attracting industries employing personnel in higher income brackets is particularly gratifying. These include electrical, metal products, chemical and specialty industries.

The Small Industries Section of the Department of Conservation and Development has been better oriented and is expanding its operations to help our citizens. The leadership of Governor Hodges has stimulated such private undertakings as the North Carolina Business Development Corporation, which is now making capital available to new and expanding industry, the needs of which cannot be met fully through regular banking channels.

The Research Triangle Committee, composed of oustanding business leaders of our State, has recently been created to develop and promote the research potentials existing in the area bounded by three of our great educational institutions. Studies for more profitable use of our water, mineral and forestry resources are continuing. We are beginning to package and market our seafoods instead of shipping them away to be labelled and marketed to the considerable enrichment of other states. We are making great strides in providing recreational areas, including privately developed tourist attractions. These serve the dual purpose of making our State more attractive to workers, enabling them to employ their leisure time to greater advantage; and in making North Carolina more attractive to the tourist trade, which is today a multimillion dollar industry and an increasing source of new revenue to the State.

Recognizing that we are on the threshold of a new economic era, it is evident that our State must as never before conserve and develop its natural resources.

The branch of government charged primarily with this program is the Department of Conservation and Development. Other agencies, public and private, have major responsibilities in specialized fields, including the State Ports Commission, the Wildlife Resources Commission, the Department of Agriculture, and the research facilities of our colleges and universities and private research laboratories. There are also special commissions created by the Legislature engaged in special assignments ranging from water resources to coastal erosion.

The Democratic Party pledges its whole-hearted support to continued progress in the vital area of conservation and development of our natural resources.

Utilities

North Carolina is continuing to grow. New homes, new businesses, new factories, and new industries are being constructed in various parts of our State, and all of these create an immediate demand for utility services. The utilities of our State are spending millions of dollars each year, not only to supply present day needs but to create adequate facilities for the future.

Mammoth electric plants have been constructed, both hydro and steam, in various parts of North Carolina sufficient to supply adequately our electric energy requirements. During the past ten years the generating capacity of our privately owned electric companies has increased approximately 300 per cent, and our REA facilities 322 per cent, thereby assuring adequate electric energy for the industrial and economic growth of our State. This abundance of electricity, available to all sections, has made it possible for the rural dweller to have the same comforts and conveniences in his home as only a short time ago were available to those in urban centers, thereby increasing the attractiveness of rural living and lessening the crowding of our population into congested areas.

The telephone companies of North Carolina are accepting the challenge for expansion of telephone service, and with the expenditure of millions of dollars have since 1946 increased the number of subscribers served by the private telephone companies from less than 300,000 to more than 800,000. This expansion is continuing and plans have been approved for the ensuing year for enlarging telephone facilities. Telephone service in rural areas of the State has been tremendously stimulated during the past five years by the assistance of the REA in the establishment of rural telephone service.

Natural gas is a newcomer in North Carolina, but already many of our larger cities and some of our smaller towns are receiving the benefits derived from the use of natural gas. The Utilities Commission has granted certificates of convenience and necessity to serve several areas of North Carolina, which when completed, will make natural gas available to a large part of our State.

The Democratic Party fully realizes that the services rendered by the utilities are absolutely necessary for our modern day of living, and under the proper supervision of State agencies, our Party will exert every effort for better and further service to our citizens at rates which are fair and reasonable.

Administration of Justice and Law Enforcement

Prompt and effective enforcement of the laws and protection of the rights of the individual are imperative functions of government.

With recognition of these principles and a manifest increasing need for smaller judicial districts presided over by judges selected by the people, the 1955 General Assembly divided the State into thirty judicial districts. This action has resulted in sharp inroads into the congestion of court trial dockets. The status of pending litigation is the best in our generation. Civil cases can now be heard with less delay and violators of the criminal law can be more promptly brought to trial.

Efforts of individuals or groups to set themselves above and to ignore the law are contrary to the genius of our people and the tradition of our Party. The Democratic Party pledges itself to the energetic enforcement of the law, to the end that the blessings of peace and order shall be fully known throughout the State.

Relation of the Races

The Democratic Party believes in the preservation of the rights and liberties of the citizens of North Carolina as guaranteed to them by their Constitution and of the citizens of all the States under the Constitution of the United States. As we interpret the Constitution of the United States, this includes the right of separation of the races in our schools and all institutions involving personal and social relations, and the preservation of our right to regulate public health, morals, marriage, education, peace, good order, domestic tranquility and the general welfare of the citizens of North Carolina.

Fiscal Affairs

It is with pride and satisfaction that we review the sound fiscal policies that have characterized our State government under Democratic administrations. It is a record of honest and efficient administration unsurpassed by any other State in the Union. We have avoided radical and costly experiments and have insisted that there be a reasonable balance between income and outgo, the cornerstone of our policy being a balanced budget. We have been neither radical nor reactionary, charting our course squarely down the middle of the fiscal road. As the direct results of sound and prudent planning, based upon administrative integrity, North Carolina's credit has never been better nor her good name more highly regarded. Let us keep our financial house in order and continue these business-like policies, for our ability to continue progressive service to our people rests upon our unquestioned solvency and our good financial reputation.

Taxation

A system of taxation should not only be successful in raising reouired revenue, but should, in addition, be just, apportioning the cost of government among our people as fairly as possible. To this end, North Carolina has for many years by a series of amendments to the Revenue Act, relieved a harshness here, or eliminated an inequity there. However, the time has come for an over-all look at our tax structure, and we commend the General Assembly of 1955 for creating a Tax Study Commission charged with the duty of making objective analyses and of making careful studies comparing our taxes with those of other states so that comprehensive recommendations for needed changes and improvements in our tax laws may be made to the General Assembly of 1957. Such recommendations should consider the needs of our State for revenue, the equitable distribution of the tax load, as well as North Carolina's efforts to bring and to hold industry in competition with other States.

We wish to commend the leadership of our State as it has sought to bring new industry to North Carolina. And we particularly approve of the way in which these efforts have been directed. North Carolina has consistently taken the position that new industries should be fairly treated taxwise, but that no effort should be made to lure new industries by give-away programs or by gratuities of any kind, the position being that the right kind of industry should expect only to be treated fairly and to bear its proportionate part of the cost of public service. We commend these policies because they are not only fair to new industry but are just to established industries, many of which were organized and developed by native sons and which have borne their share of the cost of government for generations, thus developing and enriching our State.

CONCLUSION

It is inspiring to contemplate the confidence that the people of North Carolina have reposed in the Democratic Party for more than half a century. Beginning with Aycock and continuing on into the administration of Governor Hodges, we see an unbroken record of honest, efficient and progressive government, which, for consistent fidelity to the public interest, is outstanding by comparison with any other State. However, in this solemn hour, it is good for us to remember that political power is not only a privilege, but also a responsibility. And we, the Democrats of North Carolina, hereby express our gratitude to the generations of North Carolinians who have trusted us with their fate and their fortune, pledging to them continued devotion to high ideals as we seek to lead our great State upward toward the summit of good living for all our people.

Our North Carolina Constitution declares that "A frequent recurrence to fundamental principles is absolutely necessary to preserve the blessing of liberty." So, in bringing this statement of policy to a close, we wish to restate, if you please, our devotion to great principles.

We believe that democracy cannot be effective unless citizens are well informed and know the truth respecting the public issues upon which they must pass judgment. For this reason, we reaffirm our faith in a free press which includes, of course, all modern media of communications such as radio and television. At the same time, we call upon the press of North Carolina and those through whose channels the news is distributed to be conscious always that their freedom is a sacred trust that must be administered honestly, fairly and without prejudice. The press should not only criticize constructively the conduct of public affairs, but should likewise have the courage of self-criticism. We commend the leadership of the press in North Carolina for the high moral plane upon which it has generally operated as exemplified by the code of ethics adopted by the North Carolina Press Association. Those newspapers that are careful to print the unbiased truth are the most effective advocates of their own freedom. The Democratic Party affirms its faith in a free and responsible press.

In a world in which mankind lives under the threat of atomic destruction and which is darkened by clouds of dictatorship and oppression, the Democratic Party of North Carolina proclaims its faith in the possibility of a peaceful world in which men, under the blessing of liberty, govern themselves. In an age in which tyrants seek to force all to conform to official patterns of thinking, we assert the importance and the dignity of the individual, his right to know, to be educated, to worship as he pleases, to pursue truth wherever it may lead, to speak his mind freely, to criticize the acts of those in authority and to protest against usurpation in public office. In an age in which government is ever expanding and growing in power, with a consequent temptation to invade the citizen's right of privacy, we assert the right of the individual to be secure in his home, his property, his business and his person. All these freedoms the citizen should have without let or hindrance, under the protection of the government itself. Likewise, we denounce those in government who would burn books or who would in any way attempt to censor free discussion. We condemn "brainwashing" and all those tendencies and policies which attempt to dull the mind of man, or to in any way regiment his thinking. In the spirit of Jefferson, the founder of our great Party, we rededicate ourselves to the freedom of individuals who as a whole constitute the common people for whose welfare and happiness parties and governments exist.

- Sec. 8. All Democratic Executive Committees shall meet at such times and places as the chairman of the respective committees may appoint and designate in the call. If no meeting shall be called within five days after such vacancy occurs, then any other officer of said executive committee, or any three members thereof, may call a meeting to fill said vacancy; provided, however, if such vacancy shall be in a state senatorial executive committee, in that event, any member thereof after said vacancy shall have existed for five days, may call a meeting to fill such vacancy.

- (a) The time and place of holding the State Convention shall be determined and duly published.
- (b) A common day shall be fixed, on which all precinct meetings shall be held for the election of delegates to the county conventions.
- (c) A common day shall be fixed for the holding of a county convention in each county in the State for the purpose of electing delegates to the State Convention.
- Sec. 13. Immediately after the adjournment of the aforesaid meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee, it shall be the duty of the chairman to publish the proceedings of the same, and it shall be the duty of the secretary of the committee to notify, in writing, the several chairmen of the County Democratic Executive Committees in the State of the respective dates so fixed for the holding of precinct meetings and county conventions. Directly after receipt of such notice, it shall be the duty of each chairman of a County Democratic Executive Committee in the State to fix the hour and places for holding the precinct meetings in his county, the hour and place for holding the meeting of the County Democratic Executive Committee required by the provisions of Section 20 to be held on the day of the county convention; and thereupon the said chairman shall issue a call for the precinct meetings, the county convention, and the meetings of the County Democratic Executive Committee. The call shall be in writing and, at least ten days before the day set for the precinct meetings, it shall be posted at the courthouse door of the county and copies thereof shall be sent to the chairmen of all precinct committees in the county; a copy of the call also shall be sent as a news item to each newspaper published in the county.

County and Precinct Organization

Sec. 14. The unit of county organization shall be the voting precinct. In each precinct there shall be an executive committee consisting of five active Democrats, at least two of whom shall be women, who shall be elected by the Democratic voters at the precinct meeting called by the chairman of the County Democratic Executive Committee as provided in this plan of organization. The precinct committee so elected shall elect from its membership a chairman and a vice chairman, one of whom shall be a woman.

Sec. 15. The precinct meetings shall be presided over by the chairman of the precinct committee, but in his absence, the vice chairman of the committee shall preside, and in the absence of both the chairman and the vice chairman, any member of the committee may preside.

Sec. 16. At the said precinct meeting, the Democratic voters in attendance shall elect delegates and alternates to represent the precinct in the county convention; and said delegates or alternates, or such of them as shall attend the county convention, shall be entitled to vote the full democratic strength of their precinct upon all questions, nominations, or elections which may come before the county conventions. The chairman, or presiding officer, and the secretary of the precinct meeting shall certify to the county convention the names of the delegates and alternates selected at the meeting.

Sec. 17. Each precinct shall be entitled to cast in the county convention one vote for every 25 Democratic votes, and one vote for fractions over 12 Democratic votes cast by the precinct for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election: provided that every precinct shall be entitled to cast at least one vote in the county convention, and each precinct may appoint as many delegates to said convention as it may see fit, not exceeding three delegates and three alternates for each vote to which said precinct may be entitled in the county convention.

Sec. 18. At every precinct meeting, if requested, a vote shall be taken on the different questions, nominations, and elections anticipated to come before the county convention, and in that event, the chairman or presiding officer and the secretary of the precinct meeting shall certify to the county convention the vote so cast, and the relative vote as fixed in the precinct meeting shall not be changed in the county convention, except by two-thirds vote of the entire unit of delegates desiring to change its vote.

Sec. 19. In case there shall be a failure to hold a precinct meeting in pursuance of the call of the chairman of the county democratic executive committee, or if at any meeting there shall be a failure to elect delegates to the county convention, in either event, the precinct democratic executive committee shall appoint the delegates and alternates from the Democratic voters of the precinct.

Sec. 20. The chairman of the several precinct committees shall compose the County Democratic Executive Committee, which shall meet on the same day as the county convention first held in each election year, the meeting to be held either before or after the convention at an hour and place to be designated in the call issued in pursuance of Section 13 hereof. At said meeting a chairman of said county executive committee shall be elected. Immediately after the election of the chairman, the committee shall elect one or more, but not exceeding three, vice chairman, and also a secretary. If more than one vice chairman shall be elected, the order of their succession shall be designated by title, e.g., first vice chairman, second vice chairman, third vice chairman. Either the chairman or the first vice chairman shall be a woman. The chairman, vice chairman or vice chairmen, or secretary need not be members of the County Democratic Executive Committee, but all of said officers shall be ex-officio members of the committee, with the power to vote, however, at any organizational meeting of said County Democratic Executive Committee said ex-officio members shall not have the power to vote. If for any reason there should occur any vacancy in the chairmanship of a county executive committee, by death, resignation, or removal, or if such chairman should be incapacitated or should fail or refuse to act, then the vice chairman or vice chairmen, in their order of succession, and thereafter the secretary, shall, in such order of succession, be vested with the full authority and power of the chairman until such time as said county executive committee has met and duly elected a successor to such chairman. A majority of said precinct chairman, in person or by proxy in the person of some active Democrat of the precinct in which an absent chairman resides, shall constitute a quorum. The county executive committee may appoint a central committee of five who shall act in its stead when the county executive committee is not in session.

Sec. 21. In case there shall be a failure to elect any precinct executive committee prior to the day of the county convention, the County Democratic Executive Committee at its meeting held on the day of the said convention shall appoint the committee for such precinct.

Sec. 22. The county executive committee shall have power to make any rules with regard to holding precinct meetings which it may deem proper, not inconsistent with the rules prescribed in this plan; it shall be the duty of said committee to prepare and furnish all forms and blanks needed in making the returns from said precinct meetings, and any reported challenges and appeals therefrom; and it shall have the power to raise the funds necessary to pay the expenses thereof.

Sec. 23. All county conventions shall be called to order by the chairman of the executive committee of such county, and in his absence, by the vice chairman or by one of the vice chairmen in the order of succession set out in Section 20 hereof, and in his or their absence, by any member of the county executive committee who may be present at the convention, and in case none of the foregoing persons shall be present, then by any delegate to the convention, and he shall preside until a permanent chairman is elected by the convention.

Sec. 24. The chairman shall provide the convention with a sufficient number of secretaries or ready accountants, who shall reduce the votes to decimals and tabulate the same, disregarding all fractions after the second or hundredth column.

Sec. 25. Nothing herein contained shall prevent the convention from making nomination by viva voce or acclamation where a vote by township or precinct is not demanded by any Democratic elector present.

- Sec. 26. The County Democratic Executive Committee shall have the power to make such other rules and regulations for the holding of county conventions not inconsistent herewith, as may be deemed necessary or expedient.
- Sec. 27. Any chairman of a county executive committee who announces his candidacy for an elective office in the primary shall resign immediately as such chairman and the vacancy shall be filled as heretofore provided; but any chairman who shall so resign may be reelected to such chairmanship if and when a vacancy occurs after the primary.

State Convention Rules

Sec. 28. The state convention shall be composed of delegates appointed by the several county conventions. Each county in the State shall be entitled to elect to the State Convention one delegate and one alternate for every 150 Democratic votes and one delegate and one alternate for fractions over 75 Democratic votes cast therein for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election.

Sec. 29. A preliminary meeting of the delegates shall be held by each congressional district on the morning of the State Convention, at rooms to be designated by the State Executive Committee, for the purpose of selecting the following committees and officers of the convention:

- 1. One member of the committee on Resolutions and Platform.
- 2. One member of the committee on Permanent Organization, Rules, and Order of Business, which committee will nominate a permanent president and secretary of the convention.
 - 3. One vice president of the convention.
 - 4. One district assistant secretary.
 - 5. One member of the committee on Credentials and Appeals.
- 6. Nine men and nine women as members of the State Democratic Executive Committee, with at least one member being selected from each county.
- 7. Two members from each county for the Congressional, Judicial, and Solicitorial District Democratic Executive Committees; provided, however, in districts embracing less than five counties, three members of each said committee shall be elected from each county in said district.

8. One member for each county of the State Senatorial Executive Committee where the district embraces more than one county.

Sec. 30. Such delegates (or alternates of absent delegates), as may be present at any Democratic Convention shall be allowed to cast the whole vote to which their precinct or county may be entitled.

Sec. 31. In all conventions provided for by this plan, after a vote is cast, there shall be no change in such vote until the final result of the ballot shall be announced by the chairman of said convention.

Sec. 32. The chairman of the different county conventions shall certify the list of delegates and alternates to the State Convention, and a certified list of said delegates and alternates to the secretary of the State Executive Committee.

Sec. 33. The secretary of the State Democratic Executive Committee shall make up a roll of all delegates and alternates from the several counties and transmit the same to the chairman of the State Convention.

Sec. 34. In all conventions a nomination may be made by any majority, even though it be a fraction of a vote.

Sec. 35. In all State Conventions it shall be the duty of the delegates from the several counties to choose one of their number chairman, whose name shall be reported to the president of such convention, and whose duty it shall be to cast the vote of his county as directed, and the vote as announced by him shall be recorded unless some delegate from that county shall challenge its accuracy, in which event it shall be the duty of the president of the convention to cause the roll of delegates from that county to be called, when the vote of such county shall be tabulated and recorded according to the response of its delegates; but in no event shall the vote of one county be challenged by a delegate from another county.

Rotation of State Senators in Districts Composed of More Than One County

Sec. 36. That in all State Senatorial Districts composed of more than one county, in which it has been the custom to concede the right to nominate a senator to one county of this district, by a plan of rotation or otherwise, and in which such plan was followed in the Primary Election of 1936, the same shall remain in full force and effect until terminated as herein provided.

The executive committees of the several counties composing such Senatorial District may hereafter adopt a plan for the nomination of candidates for the State Senate by one or more counties composing such district, but such plan shall not be effective until the executive committee of each of the counties composing the district shall, by a majority vote, approve such plan and file with the chairman of the State Executive Committee a copy of the resolution approving the same. The agreement in any senatorial district composed of only two counties may be terminated by a majority vote of the county executive committee of any one of the counties and in districts of more than two counties by a majority vote of each of the executive committees of at least two counties, provided that notice of the termination of such agreement must be filed with the chairman of the State Executive Committee at least 120 days in advance of the date of the primary election at which the candidates for the General Assembly are to be nominated. The chairman of the State Executive Committee shall promptly notify the State Board of Elections of all such agreements and of the termination thereof.

Nomination of Candidates for County and Township Offices and for the General Assembly in Counties Not Under Primary Law

- Sec. 37. In all counties in which the selection of candidates for members of the General Assembly and county and township offices is not provided for by the primary law, nominations shall be made in the following manner:
- (a) The county democratic executive committee shall meet and set a time and place for holding a county convention for the nomination of candidates for the aforesaid offices, and shall also set the time and places for holding the necessary preliminary precinct meetings, and thereupon the chairman of the county executive committee shall issue a call for the precinct meetings and the county convention, notice of which call shall be sent to the precinct officials and published in such manner and form as shall be directed by the said county executive committee.

(b) At the meeting held in each precinct in pursuance of said notice, delegates and alternates to represent it in the county convention shall be elected from the body of the Democratic voters of the precinct; and said delegates or alternates, or such of them as shall attend the county convention shall be entitled to vote the full Democratic strength of their precinct in the nomination of candidates and upon all questions which may come before said county convention.

If there is a failure to hold a precinct meeting in pursuance of said notice, or if said meeting shall fail to elect delegates to represent it in said convention, the precinct executive committee shall appoint delegates and alternates from the Democratic voters of the precinct.

- (c) Each precinct shall be entitled to cast in the county convention one vote for every 25 Democratic votes, and one vote for fractions over 12 Democratic votes cast by the precinct for Governor at the last preceding gubernatorial election: provided that every precinct shall be entitled to cast at least one vote in the county convention, and each precinct may appoint as many delegates to said convention as it may see fit, not exceeding three delegates and three alternates for each vote to which said precinct may be entitled in the county convention.
- (d) The precinct meetings shall be presided over by the chairman of the precinct committee, but in his absence, the vice chairman of the committee shall preside, and in the absence of both the chairman and vice chairman, any member of the committee may preside.
- (e) The county executive committee shall have power to make any rules with regard to holding precinct meetings which it may deem proper, not inconsistent with the rules prescribed in this plan; it shall be the duty of said committee to prepare and furnish all forms and blanks needed in making the returns from said precinct meetings, and any reported challenges and appeals therefrom.

Appointment of Democratic Members of County Board of Elections

Sec. 38. The chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee in each county shall, before submitting to the State Chairman recommendations as to Democratic members of the county Board of Elections in such county, call a meeting of the democratic executive committee of the county and submit such recommendations for the approval of the executive committee, and only when such recommendations are approved by a majority of the committee present, shall same be submitted to the State Chairman by the county chairman. The time of such meeting of the respective county executive committees for the purpose of passing on such recommendations shall be fixed by the State Chairman.

Miscellaneous Provisions

Sec. 39. In the several counties of the State where primaries are provided for by law, whether optional or mandatory, this plan of organization shall nevertheless be followed in all matters not inconsistent with such laws.

Sec. 40. In the nomination of candidates for municipal offices to be voted for in any town or city election, where the same is not controlled by charter or legislative enactment, a municipal democratic executive committee may be created for the purpose of facilitating the orderly selection of such candidates. The committee shall be composed of five residents of the municipality, at least two of whom shall be women, to be elected biennially at a meeting of all members of the regular precinct executive committee or committees, who reside in the municipality, the meeting to be called and presided over by the chairman of the county democratic executive committee. It shall be the sole function of any municipal democratic executive committee created under the provisions of this section to supervise and direct the selection of candidates for municipal offices, and in so doing, the committee shall follow in principle the procedure set out in Section 37 hereof, and to that end, the committee may formulate such rules and regulations as may be deemed necessary, practicable and fair in applying in principle the procedure set out in said Section 37. The committee shall elect from its membership a chairman and vice chairman, one of whom shall be a woman; and all vacancies in membership shall be filled by the committee.

Filling Vacancies Among Candidates and Selecting Candidates in Special Elections

Sec. 41. In the event any person nominated as a candidate of the Democratic Party of a state office shall die, resign, or for any reason become ineligible or disqualified between the date of nomination and the ensuing general election, the vacancy caused thereby shall be filled by the action of the State Executive Committee; in the event of such vacancy in the case of a district office (except in a state senatorial district operating under a rotation agreement which concedes the candidate for senator or one of the candidates for senator to one county), the vacancy shall be filled by the action of the executive committee for such district; and in the event of such vacancy in the case of a county office, or the House of Representatives, or the State Senate in a district composed either of only one county or of two or more counties operating under a rotation agreement which concedes the candidate for senator or any one of the candidates for senator to one county, in either of said events, the vacancies shall be filled by action of the county executive committee of the county wherein such vacancy occurs; provided, that should a vacancy occur in any office after a nomination has been made, or if a special election shall be ordered to fill a vacancy either in the Congress of the United States or in the General Assembly of North Carolina, in any or either of said event or events, a nomination shall be made by the appropriate committee in like manner as hereinbefore provided. Any nomination made under the provisions of this section shall be certified immediately by the chairman and secretary of the nominating committee to the board or boards of elections, State or county, having the responsibility of printing and distributing the ballots on which the name of the nominee shall appear.

Sec. 42. The right of appeal shall lie from any subordinate committee or convention to the committee or convention next superior thereto, and in all county or state conventions appeals shall first be referred to the committee on Credentials and Appeals, or a special committee provided by the convention, and the findings and reports of such committee had before action thereon by the convention.

Sec. 43. It shall be the duty of the county executive committees and their chairmen to make such reports and furnish such information to the chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee and chairman of the several district committees as the said State and district chairmen may desire.

Sec. 43-A. The State Democratic Executive Committee shall appoint a committee of three whose duty it shall be to audit, not less frequently than biennially, the financial accounts and balances of the Committee.

Amendments to Plan of Organization

Sec. 44. The State Democratic Executive Committee shall, by a majority vote of the full committee, have power to amend this plan of organization.

The foregoing is the plan of organization of the Democratic Party of North Carolina as adopted by the State Democratic Executive Committee, at a meeting held in the city of Raleigh on the 5th day of March, 1918, together with all amendments thereto up to and including a special meeting of said committee held in the City of Raleigh on August 20, 1952.

NORTH CAROLINA REPUBLICAN STATE PLATFORM 1956

Issued by

NORTH CAROLINA REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE

Durham, North Carolina

We, the Republicans of North Carolina in convention duly assembled in the City of Durham on March 10, 1956, rededicate our party to the service of the people of our state and our nation. We submit herewith to the people of North Carolina the following statement of our beliefs and our objectives.

We wholeheartedly commend the Republican National Administration under the leadership of our great President, Dwight D. Eisenhower. We are thankful that this Republican Administration has returned our government to the fundamental principle of requiring honesty, integrity and ability from its public servants. We commend the Republican National Administration for returning our government to the fundamental American belief in the responsibility of the individual and of local governments. We commend this Republican National Administration for proving to the world that we can have prosperity based on peace. We are thankful that this Republican National Administration has eliminated wasteful and excessive government spending, and has returned this nation's government to a sound and solvent economic basis.

We offer, on behalf of the 5,000,000 people of this State, our deep gratitude to our great President and his administration for having reduced world antagonisms and having led humanity away from the awful threat of atomic warfare. We promise that by all we do and say in the performance of our duties we shall seek to strengthen the President's hand in striving to bring about a peaceful, prosperous and orderly world.

In the realm of state affairs we believe that the voice of minority groups should never be ignored by the majority groups controlling the government. It is our belief that 60% of a people should not be permitted to politically enslave the other 40% of the people. The Republican Party of North Carolina has suffered from oppression exercised by the Democrat Party for more than 50 years. This political oppression exercised by the Democrat Party has not been limited solely to members of the Republican Party but has also been inflicted upon the independents and enlightened Democrats of this State.

The Republican Party of North Carolina, for the past 50 years, has advocated that the state provide equal educational facilities for all the school children of our State.

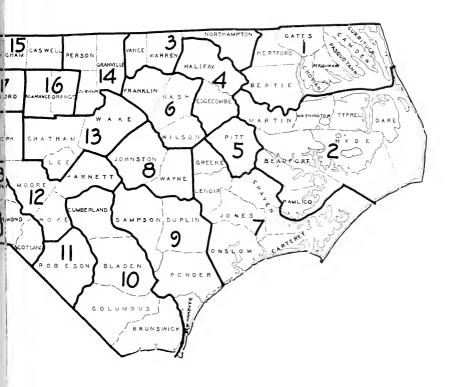

In the sincere hope of resolving the inequities existing under the present Democrat machine in North Carolina and in an effort to inaugurate much needed reforms in our State affairs, the Republican Party of North Carolina pledges itself to do the following, if entrusted to political power in the coming November election:

- 1. To adopt an honest and fair election law which will apply to primaries and general elections alike; repeal the absentee ballot law except for citizens in the Armed Forces and those who are unable on account of illness to attend the voting place on election day; create a bi-partisan State Board of Elections required by law to investigate and prosecute all election law violations. We condemn the 1955 Democrat controlled Legislature of North Carolina for its un-American action in enacting a law to make it more difficult for an elector to vote a mixed ticket, and thus attempting to prevent the exercise of a free ballot.
- 2. To re-align Congressional and State Senatorial Districts on a fair and equitable basis; eliminate the unconscionable practice of gerrymandering Congressional and Judicial Districts, take the judiciary entirely out of partisan politics.
- 3. To provide for two-party representation upon all Commissions, Boards and Bureaus, including the Highway System.
- 4. We will expand our inadequate highway system to meet the requirements of ever increasing population and travel demands.
- 5. To provide that members of County Boards of Education be elected by the people of the respective counties; take the operation of the public school system entirely out of partisan politics; strive toward further reductions in the teacher's class load, adopt an adequate salary schedule for certified teachers and we believe the minimum salary schedule for teachers should be increased.
- 6. We favor the amendment of the State Income Tax Laws to allow each taxpayer full deductions for his Federal Income Tax payments. We also favor allowing each taxpayer to take full deductions from his State Income Taxes for all hospital and medical bills paid for himself and family.

State Sena

al Districts

- 7. Provide adequate facilities and competent care for the insane, the orphans, and the delinquents.
- 8. Provide the increased and improved services to the people as herein indicated by practicing strict economy in administration. We believe adequate funds will be available for these services without increasing taxation if there is a complete re-organization of the state government and a consequent elimination of useless and expensive agencies and bureaus.

PLAN OF ORGANIZATION OF THE REPUBLICAN PARTY OF NORTH CAROLINA

Adopted in Convention, March 10, 1956, at Durham

ARTICLE I

THE PRECINCT AS A UNIT

- 1. The unit of party action shall be the election precinct. In every precinct in each General Election year, the County Chairman shall call precinct meetings at such time as shall be designated by the Chairman of the State Republican Executive Committee after giving ten (10) days written notice to each Precinct Chairman and after ten (10) days notice of such meeting in a newspaper of general circulation within the county.
- 2. Precinct meetings shall elect a Precinct Committee of five or more voters, one of whom shall be designated as Chairman and one as Vice-Chairman, one of whom shall be a woman, and a Secretary. The members and officers of the Precinct Committee shall hold their places for two years and until their successors are chosen. Precinct meetings shall elect one delegate and one alternate to the County Convention and one additional delegate and alternate for each fifty votes, or major fraction thereof, cast for the Republican candidate for Governor at the last General Election.
- 3. Other precinct meetings may be held at such times and places as shall be designated by the Chairman of the Precinct Committee after first giving ten (10) days notice of such meeting.
- 4. In case of death or resignation of any officer of the precinct, such vacancy shall be filled by the remaining members of the Precinct Committee. In the event any Chairman of any precinct fails to act, then the Chairman of the County Committee shall appoint someone to serve in his or her place until a Precinct meeting can be called and the new Chairman elected. The County Chairman shall call such a meeting within thirty (30) days.

ARTICLE II

COUNTY CONVENTION AND COMMITTEE

1. A County Convention shall be called in each general election year by the Chairman of the County Committee, at the County

The Secretary shall keep all minutes and records, and shall keep a roster of all precinct officers and Committeemen. Such records shall be available, upon request, to any registered Republican within the County.

- 6. In case of death or resignation of any member of the Committee or any officer of the Committee, the resulting vacancy shall be filled by the County Executive Committee.
- 7. Any officer or member of the County Committee may be removed by a two-thirds vote of the Committee after being furnished with notice of the charges against him, signed by not less than one-third of the members of the Committee and allowing him thirty days to appear and defend himself; provided further that said cause for removal shall be confined to gross inefficiency or party disloyalty.

Proposed amendments to the Constitution of North Carolina submitted to a vote of the people at the General Election,

September 8, 1956.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT ADOPTED

Chapter 1, Extra Session 1956. Article 9, Section 12.

"$ 12. Education expense grants and local option. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the General Assembly may provide for payment of education expense grants from any State or local public funds for the private education of any child for whom no public school is available or for the private education of a child who is assigned against the wishes of his parent, or the person having control of such child, to a public school attended by a child of another race. A grant shall be available only for education in a nonsectarian school, and in the case of a child assigned to a public school attended by a child of another race, a grant shall, in addition, be available only when it is not reasonable and practicable to reassign such child to a public school not attended by a child of another race.

"Notwithstanding any other provision of this Constitution, the General Assembly may provide for a uniform system of local option whereby any local option unit, as defined by the General Assembly, may choose by a majority vote of the qualified voters in the unit who vote on the question to suspend or to authorize the suspension of the operation of one or more or all of the public schools in that unit.

"No action taken pursuant to the authority of this Section shall in any manner affect the obligation of the State or any political subdivision or agency thereof with respect to any indebtedness heretofore or hereafter created."

Powers and Duties of the President

- 1. The President shall take the chair at the hour fixed by law or at the time fixed by the Senate upon adjournment on the preceding legislative day, and shall call the members to order.

- 3. In the absence of the President, the President pro tempore shall reconvene the Senate and preside, and during such time shall be vested with all powers of the President except that of casting a vote in case of tie when he shall have voted as a Senator. And in the event of the absence of the President and President pro tempore at any time fixed for the reconvening of the Senate, the Principal Clerk of the Senate, or in his absence also, some member of the Senate Committee on Rules, shall call the Senate to order and designate some member to act as President.
- 4. After the prayer, and upon appearance of a quorum, the President shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read and approved, unless the Chairman of the Committee on Journal or some member of the Senate by motion sustained by a majority of the members present, have the reading thereof dispensed with and the same approved as written.

- 7. The ayes and noes may be called for on any question before the vote is taken, and if the call is sustained by one-fifth of the Senators present, the roll of the Senate shall be called and the ayes and noes taken, and the same shall be entered upon the Journal. If a Senator desires the ayes and noes recorded on any question, he shall address the Chair and obtain recognition and say, "Upon that vote or question I call for the ayes and noes." Whereupon the President shall say, "Is the call sustained?" If one-fifth of the members present then stand the roll is called and the ayes and noes recorded. If less than one-fifth present stands, the Chair announces, "An insufficient number up" and a viva voce vote is then taken.
- 8. If any question contains several distinct propositions, it shall be divided by the President, at the request of any Senator, provided each subdivision, if left to itself, shall form a substantive proposition.
- 9. The President shall have general direction of the Hall of the Senate, and in case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobbies, he shall have the power to order the same cleared.

On General Orders and Special Orders

- 53. Any bill or other matter may be made a special order for a particular day or hour by a vote of the majority of the Senators voting, and if it shall not be completed on that day, it shall be returned to its place on the Calendar, unless it shall be made a special order for another day; and when a special order is under consideration it shall take precedence of any special order or subsequent order for the day, but such subsequent order may be taken up immediately after the previous special order has been disposed of.
- 54. Every bill shall receive three readings previous to its being passed, and the President shall give notice at each whether it be the first, second, or third. After the first reading, unless a motion shall be made by some Senator, it shall be the duty of the President to refer the subject-matter to an appropriate committee. No bill shall be amended until it shall have been twice read.

On Precedence of Motions

- 55. When a question is before the Senate no motion shall be received except those herein specified, which motion shall have precedence as follows, viz.:

If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution, or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments, in their inverse order, without further debate or amendment: Provided, that no one shall move the previous question except the member submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration, and the member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration, or the member in charge of the measure, who shall be designated by the chairman of the committee reporting the same to the Senate at the time the bill or other matter under consideration is reported to the Senate or taken up for consideration.

57. When a motion for the previous question is made and is pending, debate shall cease and only a motion to adjourn shall be in order, which motions shall be put as follows: adjourn, previous question, lay on the table. After a motion for the previous question is made, pending a second thereto, any member may give notice that he desires to offer an amendment to the bill or other matter under consideration; and after the previous question is seconded such member shall be entitled to offer his amendment in pursuance of such notice.

Some Questions to be Taken Without Debate

- 58. The motions to adjourn and lay on the table shall be decided without debate, and the motion to adjourn shall always be in order when made by a Senator entitled to the floor.

Any Senator may explain his vote on any bill pending by obtaining permission of the President before the vote is put: Provided, that not more than three minutes shall be consumed in such explanation.

Questions That Require a Two-Thirds Vote

- 63. No bill or resolution on its third reading shall be acted on out of the regular order in which it stands on the Calendar, and no bill or resolution shall be acted upon on its third reading the same day on which it passed its second reading unless so ordered by two-thirds of the Senators present.

- 68. All bills and resolutions reported unfavorably by the committee to which they were referred, and having no minority report, shall lie upon the table, but may be taken from the table, and placed upon the Calendar by a two-thirds vote of those present and voting.
- 69. After a bill has been tabled or has failed to pass on any of its readings, the contents of such bill or the principal provisions of its subject-matter shall not be embodied in any other measure. Upon the point of order being raised and sustained by the Chair, such measure shall be laid upon the table, and shall not be taken therefrom except by a vote of two-thirds of the elected membership of the Senate: Provided, no local bill shall be held by the Chair as embodying the provisions, or being identical with any State-wide measure which has been laid upon the table or failed to pass any of its readings.

Proceedings When There is Not a Quorum Voting

70. If, on taking the question on a bill, it shall appear that a constitutional quorum is not present, or if the bill requires a vote of certain proportions of all the Senators to pass it, and it appears that such number is not present, the bill shall be again read and the question taken thereon; if the bill fails a second time for the want of the necessary number being present and voting, the bill shall not be finally lost, but shall be returned to the Calendar in its proper order.

On Conference Committee and Report

71. Whenever the Senate shall decline or refuse to concur in amendments put by the House to a bill originating in the Senate, or shall refuse to adopt a substitute adopted by the House for a bill originating in the Senate, a conference committee shall be appointed upon motion made, consisting of the number named in the motion; and the bill under consideration shall thereupon go to and be considered by the joint conferees on the part of the Senate and House. In considering matters in difference between the Senate and House committed to the conferees only such matters as are in difference between the two houses shall be considered by the conferees, and the conference report shall deal only with such matters. The conference report shall not be amended. Except as herein set out, the rules of the House of Representatives of Congress shall govern the appointment, conduct, and reports of the conferees.

Miscellaneous

72. When a question has been once put and decided, it shall be in order for any Senator who shall have voted in the majority to move a reconsideration thereof; but no motion for the reconsideration of any vote shall be in order after the bill, resolution, message, report, amendment, or motion upon which the vote was taken shall have gone out of the possession of the Senate; nor shall any motion for reconsideration be in order unless made on the same day or in the next following legislative day on which the vote proposed to be reconsidered shall have taken place, unless same shall be made by the Committee on Enrolled Bills for verbal or grammatical errors in the bills, when the same may be made at any time; Provided that when the next legislative day has by motion of the Senate, been restricted as to matters which may be considered, a motion to reconsider shall be in order on the next succeeding day upon which regular business is conducted. - 3. He shall preserve order and decorum, may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any member, on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House. A 2/3 vote of the members present shall be necessary to sustain any appeal from the ruling of the Chair.

- 6. The Speaker shall have a general direction of the hall. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the Chair, but substitution shall not extend beyond one day, except in case of sickness or by leave of the House.
- 7. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise specially ordered by the House.

 - (4) Resolutions.

- (5) Bills.
- (6) The unfinished business of the preceding day.
- (7) Bills, resolutions, petitions, memorials, messages, and other papers on the Calendar, in their exact numerical order, unless displaced by the orders of the day; but messages, and motions to elect officers shall always be in order.

No member shall rise from his seat to introduce any petition, resolution, or bill out of order unless he is permitted so to do by a suspension of the rules.

On Decorum in Debate

- 16. When any member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address the Speaker.
- 17. When the Speaker shall call a member to order, the member shall sit down, as also he shall when called to order by another member, unless the Speaker decides the point of order in his favor. By leave of the House a member called to order may clear a matter of fact, or explain, but shall not proceed in debate so long as the decision stands but by permission of the House. Any member may appeal from the decision of the Chair, and if, upon appeal, the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he may proceed; if otherwise, he shall not, except by leave of the House; and if the case, in the judgment of the House, require it, he shall be liable to its censure.
- 18. No member shall speak until recognized by the Chair, and when two or more members rise at the same time the Speaker shall name the member to speak.
- 19. No member shall speak more than twice on the main question, nor longer than thirty minutes for the first speech and fifteen minutes for the second speech, unless allowed to do so by the affirmative vote of a majority of the members present; nor shall he speak more than once upon an amendment or motion to commit or postpone, and then not longer than ten minutes. But the House may, by consent of a majority, suspend the operations of this rule during any debate on any particular question before the House, or the Committee on Rules may bring in a special rule that shall be applicable to the debate on any bill.

- 20. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, no person shall speak, stand up, walk out of or cross the House, nor when a member is speaking, entertain private discourse, stand up, or pass between him and the Chair.
- 21. No member shall vote on any question when he was not present when the question was put by the Speaker, except by the consent of the House. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, no member without the bar shall be counted.
- 22. Every member who shall be in the hall of the House for the above purpose when the question is put shall give his vote upon a call of the ayes and noes, unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him, and no application to be excused from voting or to explain a vote shall be entertained unless made before the call of the roll. The hall of the House shall include the lobbies and offices connected with the hall.
- 23. When a motion is made it shall be stated by the Speaker or, if written, it shall be handed to the Chair and read aloud by the Speaker or Clerk before debate. A motion to table or adjourn shall be seconded before the motion is put by the Speaker to the vote of the House.
- 24. Every motion shall be reduced to writing, if the Speaker or any two members request it.
- 25. After a motion is stated by the Speaker or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn before a decision or amendment, except in case of a motion to reconsider, which motion, when made by a member, shall be deemed and taken to be in possession of the House, and shall not be withdrawn without leave of the House.
- 26. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged; and no motion to lay on the table, to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, being decided, shall be again allowed at the same stage of the bill or proposition.
- 27. A motion to adjourn or lay on the table shall be decided without debate, and a motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when the House is voting or some member is speaking; but a motion to adjourn shall not follow a motion to adjourn until debate or some other business of the House has intervened.

- 28. In case of adjournment without any hour being named, the House shall reconvene on the next legislative day at twelve o'clock noon.
- 29. When a question has been postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted on again during the session, except upon a 2/3 vote.
- 30. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same shall admit of it, which shall be determined by the Speaker.
- 31. When a motion has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or succeeding day, unless it may have subsequently passed the Senate, and no motion to reconsider shall be taken from the table except by a 2/3 vote. But unless such vote has been taken by a call of the ayes and noes, any member may move to reconsider.
- 32. When the reading of a paper is called for, which has been read in the Houses, and the same is objected to by any member, it shall be determined by a vote of the House.
- 33. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House shall be presented by the Speaker; a brief statement of the contents thereof may be verbally made by the introducer before reference to a committee, but shall not be debated or decided on the day of their first being read, unless the House shall direct otherwise.
- 34. When the ayes and noes are called for on any question, it shall be on motion before the question is put; and if seconded by one fifth of the members present, the question shall be decided by the ayes and noes; and in taking the ayes and noes, or on a call of the House, the names of the members will be taken alphabetically.

Upon the point of order being raised and sustained by the chair, such measure shall be laid upon the table, and shall not be taken therefrom except by a vote of 2/3 of the elected membership of the House: Provided, no local bill shall be held by the Chair as embodying the provisions or being identical with any Statewide measure which has been laid upon the table, or failed to pass any of its readings. No amendment or rider to a bill before the House shall be in order unless such rider or amendment is germane to the bill under consideration.

- 45. A motion to table an amendment sent up from the floor shall not be construed as a motion to table the principal bill or any other amendment which has been offered thereto, and if such motion is carried, only the amendment shall lie upon the table.
- 46. When a member desires to interrupt a member having the floor he shall first obtain recognition by the Chair and permission of the member occupying the floor, and when so recognized and such permission is obtained he may propound a question to the member occupying the floor, but he shall not propound a series of questions or interrogatories or otherwise interrupt the member having the floor; and the Speaker shall, without the point of order being raised, enforce this rule.

- 58. The Clerk of the House shall keep a separate calendar of the public, local, and private bills, and shall number them in the order in which they are introduced, and all bills shall be disposed of in the order they stand upon the Calendar; but the Committee on Rules may at any time arrange the order of precedence in

If this question shall be decided in the affirmative, the "main question" shall be on the passage of the bill, resolution, or other matter under consideration; but when amendments are pending, the question shall be taken upon such amendments, in inverse order, without further debate or amendment. If such question be decided in the negative, the main question shall be considered as remaining under debate: Provided, that no one shall move the previous question except the member submitting the report on the bill or other matter under consideration, and the member introducing the bill or other matter under consideration, or the member in charge of the measure, who shall be designated by the chairman of the committee reporting the same to the House at the time the bill or other matter under consideration is reported to the House or taken up for consideration.

When a motion for the previous question is made, and pending the second thereto by a majority, debate shall cease; but if any member obtains the floor, he may move to lay the matter under consideration on the table, or move an adjournment, and when both or either of these motions are pending the question shall stand:

- (3) To lay on the table.

Previous question.

Adjourn.

Lay on the table.

Postpone indefinitely.

Postpone definitely.

To commit.

Amendment to amendment.

Amendment.

Substitute.
